NEWTON MASS., FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1924.

TERMS. $3.00 A YEAR

MR. CROWELL RESIGNS

Harlan D. Crowell, for several years associated with Newton people in social, educational, and religious work, has been called to Springfield, Massachusetts, to serve in a capacity of large educational responsibility and opportunity in the highly recognized school system there.

Mr. Crowell has been well known here in the numberless institutions with which he has been connected. In 1913, Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Frank E. Spaulding, engaged Mr. Crowell as sub-master at the Pierce School, then under the leadership of Carroll R. Reed, the present superintendent of schools in Akron, Ohio. Mr. Crowell held the position but a year, having arrived at the end of that time to the conclusion that a college degree was essential to educational success. He had received his diploma from the State Normal School at Salem, and was soon to be awarded his bachelor's degree in science at Harvard. This summer he will complete his work for the master's degree in education from Harvard.

There were representatives from all parts of the State. Mr. John Finelli of Newton presided and called upon the various representatives to speak.

There were numerous donations presented and pinned to the flags. Besides personal donations, Mr. James D'Angelo presented $25.00 in behalf of the Society, Duca Degli Abruzzi of Newton. BOARD OF ALDERMEN

Lengthy Meeting Held Monday Evening on High School Alterations and the Matter of Site for Junior High School

Another "short" session of the Board of Aldermen was held on Monday evening, the Board not adjourning until 12:07 A. M.

The principal business of the evening was the matter of the High School alterations and the matter of a site for a new Junior High School, which have been before the Board for some time. An appropriation of $46,409.77 was made for alterations at the Classical High School, changing certain laboratories into class-rooms, and $10,899.65 was appropriated for equipment. $1,000 additional was appropriated as architect's fees. It was stated that the contractor had made a mistake in his bid for these alterations, but did not wish to withdraw it, and it was decided that an appropriation should be made in accordance with this bid, and if unable to fulfill the contract an additional appropriation would have to be made.

There was discussion relative to a site for a new Junior High School for the West Newton-Auburndale-Waban-Lower Falls District. Alderman George W. Pratt as Chairman of the Special Committee on New School Buildings, stated that his committee favored a site on Washington street, West Newton, at the head of Auburn street, near Myrtle street. He stated that this land could be acquired without litigation, which would mean the saving of time, an important item at this time with the schools so crowded. Alderman Heathcote as Chairman of the Special Committee to select a site for the new Junior High School believed that this land was not the proper location for a school of the type which it was desired to erect, it being low land requiring much filling and grading,—also it would not be so convenient for the Waban and Lower Falls children. He believed that a building of this kind should be built on high land in a prominent place. He favored the taking of the Atkinson property at the corner of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street, which he believed could be obtained for not more than ten or twelve thousand dollars more than the other site, taking into consideration the fact that it would not require so much grading. He stated that this location was favored by the Planning Board, the School Committee, civic bodies in Auburndale and architects. After discussion, it was voted that hearings be held on July 14th, 1924, on the matter of taking both sites, the decision as to which land to be taken to be made at that time.

Hearing was held on petition of the Edison and Telephone Companies for joint locations for three poles on Hunter street, West Newton, and order granting same was subsequently adopted.

Mr. W. H. Coan, president of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association, spoke in favor of the widening of Lincoln street at the western corner of Hartford street, Newton Highlands.

No one appeared at the hearing on the laying out and acceptance of Gay street, Newtonville, and orders authorizing the acceptance of the street and appropriating $2782 were adopted.

No one appeared at the hearing on the matter of amending Sections 565 and 574 of the Zoning Ordinance and subsequently upon motion of Alderman Madden, said amendments were adopted.

These amendments provide for allowing greater height for non-residential buildings, and give the power to the Board of Aldermen instead of the Public Buildings Commissioner to grant special permits for building on corner lots.

The Mayor recommended that Lowell avenue, Newtonville, be designated as a street under which the Edison Company shall put underground conduits for their wires. This was referred to the Committee on Franchises and Licenses.

Communications were received from the School Committee and referred to the Committee on Public Buildings requesting an appropriation of $1200 for the removal of a two-room portable school from the Davis School to the Pierce School; stating the need of another school building in the vicinity of the present high schools; and requesting proper accommodations for the automobile and electrical departments of the Vocational School, it being inadvisable to repair the present shops any longer. An order was adopted authorizing the Mayor to remove these buildings. They also requested that the control of Cladin Field be placed under the supervision of the School Committee and this request was referred to the Committee on Public Works.

The following petitions were referred to the Committee on Franchises and Licenses:—Community Garage, 49 Elmwood street, Newton, for 4 Taxi Licenses; Samuel Farulla, private garage at 143-145 Cabot street, Ward 2; Western Union Tel. Co., for attachments on poles on Walnut street, Newtonville.

A public hearing for July 14th was ordered on petition of Edwin Mah Chow for a common victualler license at 277 Washington street, this to be a Chinese Restaurant, also leave to withdraw was granted on petition of Mary McCarthy, for a common victualler license at 2031 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.

A hearing was ordered for July 14th on petition of the Texas Company for a gasoline filling station at 1174 Beacon street, Waban.

Petitions were received for concrete sidewalks, Elliot avenue, West Newton; sewers in Concolor avenue, Newton; Barnstable road, West Newton; Huntington road, Newton and Linwood avenue, Newtonville. Petition was also received from Mrs. W. C. DeRusha and about 150 others for the naming of the junction of Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton Centre, in honor of Henry W. DeRusha, who was killed in France.

Report as required by law was made to the Secretary of the Commonwealth on application of John B. Heberd and others for the incorporation of the DeWitt Clinton Heberd School.

BOY SCOUTS

Now is the time that the scouts can put into practice the things which they have been learning the past few months, and particularly swimming and lifesaving. Let every second class scout come back home from their vacation not only a good swimmer but a lifesaver. A first class scout must be a swimmer before he can get his badge, that is, he must be able to swim fifty yards, but after he has passed that requirement he should keep on so that he may be able to secure the Merit Badge for swimming and lifesaving.

National Council advises that the slogan be adopted of "Every scout a swimmer" and it is certainly good advice.

Commissions have recently been received at Headquarters for Robert D. Rees and Walter Shanley of Troop eleven, Newton, as Assistant Scout-

NEWTON HOSPITAL

For week ending June 28.—Patients in hospital, 114; patients paying as much or more than cost of care, 52; those paying less than cost of care, 40; babies born, 8; patients treated by out patient department, 72; social service calls at hospital, 19; at homes, 12; patients transported by social service car, 9.

Miss Winslow, the assistant dietitian at the hospital, has left, and is to continue studying the matter of diets at Simmons after a vacation.

A pediatric clinic, one devoted to the diseases of children, is to be established at the hospital. It is to be held on the afternoons of Tuesdays and Thursdays between the hours of 2 and 4. Dr. Henry Keever is to be in charge at the beginning. In the fall when the schools reopen, there is to be a clinic for troubles and diseases of the eyes.

At the trustees meeting last Monday there was an unusually good attendance, twenty-four of the members of the board being present.

The Newton Medical Club held a special meeting at the hospital Monday evening, the Know More Kokki Club putting its meeting off until Tuesday evening.

As a site for the new power house, the hospital has bought from the Boston & Albany a tract of land back of the present power house.

Dr. Dwyer and Dr. May completed their terms of service as hospital officers with the first of July. Their successors are Dr. Pickwick from Tufts and Dr. LeFurgy from Boston University.

The men's ward, which has been used to only 30 per cent of its capacity, is to be divided into semi-private rooms, three to be single, bed rooms and two bed rooms. This change is brought about because more and more the patients who go to the hospital prefer to pay at least a part of the cost of their care rather than be treated as free patients in wards.

This growth in self-dependency is an encouraging development, and one the hospital wishes in every way to help along.

One of the private rooms in the Mellen Bray ward is to be made over into a dressing room for X-Ray patients.

The outsidings of Ellison Hall, Founders and the Nurses' Home are to be painted.

The trustees at their meeting on Monday decided upon remedying at once a condition at the Nurses' Home that has long needed attention. At present at the Home there is only one bath room for every fourteen nurses; as soon as possible increased bathing and toilet facilities are to be provided.

Dr. Philip Warren Blake of Andover, a former officer at the Newton Hospital, was married on Sunday, June 29, to Miss Margaret Keath Lusk, the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Isaiah S. Lusk. The marriage ceremony was performed by the bride's father, and was attended only by the families and immediate relatives of the bride and groom. A picture of the bride appeared on the social pages of the Boston Transcript for June 28.

Orange From Asia

The sweet orange is a native of eastern Asia and was carried to India, Asia Minor, and the south of Europe along the Mediterranean. The early navigators of Portugal are supposed to have brought it home from India.—Nature Magazine.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by Leverett D. G. Bentley

The other day a friend confided in us that the roses in his garden were blooming most gloriously. "I have the best roses in Newton," he admitted, frankly. We had been thinking a good deal of the roses we had seen in our home town the past week or two. Possession of a couple of pink ones had increased our admiration for this beautiful flower. That evening we wondered if anybody had ever thought to write of the many carefully grown rose bushes in this city. The thought that we might ourselves put down on paper some happy phrases on the subject was in our subconscious mind when the telephone rang. We answered, and rejoiced to hear a friend's voice, which said, "I'm coming after you in my car. I want you to see my garden. I have the best roses in Newton." It was not the same man but another proud owner. We viewed the display and were most favorably impressed. It seemed that these roses were as beautiful as those of any local garden. The next day we told of what we had seen to a friend we met on the way to Boston. He surprised us by his apparent indifference. "Wait 'til you see my garden," he said, almost boastfully, "I have the best roses in Newton." There seemed to us something of a coincidence in the fact that we should be acquainted with the growers of the "best roses in Newton" and that they should be strangers to each other. The peculiar situation so impressed us that we spoke of it to another resident of Newton, whose office is in the same building as that in which our daily labors are performed. "They're all bluffing," said he, without hesitation. "You should see mine; I have the best roses in Newton." We make it a rule to avoid disputes, and so we made no attempt to contradict him. We knew that if we did, he might call upon us to act as judge and jury, and that would indeed be embarrassing. Plainly we could not go about in our city telling their roses were superior to all others. Someone would get wise to us finally, and then we would be worse off than if we had held our tongue. And that is our position at the present writing. "The War of the Roses" in Newton will have to be fought without our enlistment on anybody's side.

What was once looked upon as an act of an eccentric mind is now so common practice that few give heed to it. We refer to the custom of going about bareheaded. The women, bless 'em, have had a marvelous advantage of the men for some years, in that their uncovered tresses were a more agreeable sight than even the creation of the most fashionable and high-priced milliner. But the men, who were slow in following their lead, had more to overcome. It took a great deal more courage to expose to public gaze a head that was semi-hairless, and therefore not especially thrilling as a source of admiration. Nevertheless men including bald-headed men, did assert themselves. Now scarcely anybody comments upon the wealth or paucity of hirsute adornment. This does not mean that the standards of masculine beauty have been changed. The movie hero is still required to own his own hair, and plenty of it. Indeed, we saw a moving picture the other night, in which there was a hero with long hair. It was so long, as a matter of fact, that our companion, who is more familiar with such matters, insisted that he had been industrious in the use of a curling iron. But this is not what we started out to discuss. We wish to declare ourselves strongly in behalf of the custom of men not wearing hats. The papers have had a good deal to say of late regarding a feature of women's wardrobe that is said to have been abandoned by most women, and is never to return. For that reason we think the men should again hop into line. They could show their independence with hats, if not with other features of their dress. The hat is a kick, and we might read that it was being worn. At yet we feel that in the pleasant weather men do not need hats—at least not right around home, or when driving or playing golf, mowing the lawn and strolling down to the village, or the like. Our motto for men—offered merely as a suggestion—would be "Hats Off More Often."

Despondent because he had worked only four days a week for some time, Charles M. Scolley of 151 Worcester street, Boston, committed suicide by hanging himself from a tree in the Hammond woods, Newton, late Saturday night or early Sunday morning. The body was discovered at 6.40 o'clock Sunday morning by Bernard Birmingham of 721 Heath street, Brookline, who was taking a short cut along the bridge path from Boylston street to Beacon street, near Chestnut street. The body was on the ground, with one-half of the rope tied around the neck, while a broken end hung from the bough of a tree. Medical Examiner George E. West pronounced the man a suicide, and declared that he probably had climbed the tree and jumped from the bough. It is believed the rope broke and he died instantly when his body struck the ground.

A SUICIDE

Inspector John Shaughnessy of the Newton police learned that Saturday night Scolley had a long talk with his wife, who lives at 165 West Newton street, Boston, from whom he had been separated for some time. He was most despondent over his failure to get regular work. There are four children, who live with Mrs. Scolley. The body was taken to the Newton Hospital Morgue.

CLARKEN-FORD

Last Wednesday, Miss Margaret Mary Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Ford of Elmhurst road became the bride of Mr. Peter F. Clarken of Milford N. H. The wedding took place at the Church of Our Lady of Presentation Brighton and was performed by the Rev. James J. Murphy.

Miss Mary P. Ford of Newton was the bridesmaid and Mr. Joseph B. Ford Jr., of Newton the best man. The bride's gown was of white embroidered crepe de chine with a cape falling softly over the shoulders. The bridesmaid wore blue flowered white chiffon in bouffant mode trimmed with cream lace.

A wedding breakfast at the home of the bride followed the ceremony at the church. The young couple received under a bower of potted plants and flowers, and the house was decorated with pink and white flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarken are to make their home in Milford, N. H. The bride is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music.

BUSHNELL-FOLSOM

Miss Sylvia Purington Folsom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Folsom, 30 Plymouth road, Bridgewater, and Robert T. Bushnell, assistant district attorney of Middlesex county and son of Mrs. Robert S. Bushnell of 182 Tremont street, Newton, were married Tuesday in the Bridgewater Unitarian Church by the Rev. Harold G. Arnold of Roxbury.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attended by Miss Dorothy E. Bushnell, a sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Sylvia Cook of Cambridge, Miss Virginia Swift of Plymouth, and Miss Gwendolyn Stearns of Bridgewater, with Miss Faith Fleming as flower girl. District Attorney Arthur K. Reading of Middlesex county was best man.

Among the ushers were Assistant District Attorney Warren L. Bishop, Assistant District Attorney Charles E. Lawrence, Carl G. Goddard, and Harding White.

In the legal profession will prove a great asset and work to the advantage of his prospective constituents. If he is not a lawyer, he usually calls attention to the fact that "there should be a business man, etc." on the ticket, or in the office to which he aspires. If he has in years past yielded to the urgings of some committee appointed to raise funds for a worthy cause, he manages to get before the voters the fact that he is liberal in his donations. If he is not noted for generosity, he refers to himself as "practical" or "conservative." In justice to physicians and dentists we will say that they seldom aspire to public office. We never knew whether they were too busy or too timid to run. We believe, however, they show wisdom in staying out of the field. The public somehow or other has an idea that lawyers just naturally ought to be candidates, and that business men have a right to seek office under certain circumstances. But medical doctors and dentists are supposed—as we interpret the public mind—to tend to their knitting. We have often thought that if the physician or dental candidate could have the united support of all the people who owe him money, he would have a wide majority over his opponent. However, we were talking of political autobiographies, several of which have been brought to our attention of late. One conclusion is brief, for we are of the opinion that the less said of them, the better.

We have read over the bonus blanks that World War veterans are required to fill out, in order to obtain compensation due them. After a study of the exhaustive questionnaire that must be completely filled out we pause to wonder if the amount that is eventually paid is sufficient reward for the task involved.

The Fourth of July is here. Any noise that may be produced to celebrate the event will sound like the hush of Sunday morning, as compared with the Democratic racket in New York.

In describing the increasing birthrate at the Newton Hospital, the publicity representative of that institution says, "The race between the boy babies and the girl babies keeps on." We were puzzled for a time as to what kind of a race it was when suddenly it flashed across our mind. "Why, human race, of course."

Osage Indians Tallest of Tribes of North America

Missouri, unlike many other states, never had a large number of Indians, Indian tribes, or warlike chiefs of ability. The Osage Indians were the only tribe peculiar to and historically native in Missouri. The "Missourians," who took their name from the river, were living there when Marquette and Joliet made their famous trip in 1673, but they had originally gone there from the vicinity of Green Bay, Wis. They were never a strong tribe, writes Raymond W. Thorp in "Adventure."

Other Indian tribes in Missouri came late, as the Sauks, Foxes and Delawares. These originated east of the Mississippi and settled in Missouri during the Spanish period. The Osages were the distinctive Indians of Missouri, and well might the state be proud of them. The great artist, Catlin, states that the Osages were "the tallest race of men in North America, either of red or white skins." Few Osage braves were under six feet in height, many were six feet six inches, and some were seven feet tall. They were well proportioned and good looking, and in movement they were quick and graceful. In war and the chase they equaled any. Although living close to the white man for decades they late retained their primitive customs and dress.

First Almanacs Not the Bulky Thing Now Issued

What would the American colonials of 300 years ago think of the output today of calendars and almanacs? If piled on top of one another they would probably reach to the moon each year, says Esther Singleton in the Antiquarian of New York. The almanac, which is a compendium of useful information, is now a bulky volume issued by several firms and newspapers, but had its origin in very small beginnings. Samuel Danforth seems to have started the fashion in 1648, when John Eliot was beginning to preach to the Indians, and the settlers, menaced by the Pequots, lived with a Bible in one hand and a "blunderbuss" in the other.

The first almanacs were very small and printed in the finest type, now so faded that it is difficult to read them, even with the aid of a magnifying glass. But an original copy will speak of many things to one fortunate enough to handle it, and carry a Twentieth-century antiquarian back to the days when America was very young indeed. These almanacs were first of all "astronomical" and full of calculations useful to the vicinity where they were printed. Gradually "lighter" features were added, culminating in the wit and wisdom, satire and philosophy of Benjamin Franklin in 1733.

Source of Mississippi

Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, American traveler and ethnologist, believed that in the discovery of Lake Itasca, Minn., he had reached the extreme head of the Mississippi river. He published his discovery to the world, and it was generally accepted as his authority. Lake Itasca was, and is, laid down in maps as the source of the Father of Waters.

In 1881 Capt. Willard Glazier organized an expedition to proceed to the headwaters of the Mississippi. The result was the discovery of a body of water lying immediately south of Lake Itasca and emptying into the latter through a perennial stream, the mouth of which was entirely concealed by a dense growth of lake vegetation and fallen trees.

This body of water is now known as Lake Glazier and the discoverer claimed for it that it was the primal reservoir, or ultimate source, of the Mississippi river.—Detroit News.

Good Deed for That Day

Miss Muff was one of those kind-hearted spinsters who, having nothing else to do in life, make themselves, sometimes, rather objectionable in the process of carrying out their kindheartedness.

"Have you done your good deed today?" asked Miss Muff one day as she came upon a very diminutive boy scout.

"Yes, I did it before breakfast. I gave my brother a thrashing before breakfast, and I blacked his eye so he couldn't go to school."

"But I don't call that a good deed," said Miss Muff.

"What?" exclaimed the scout.

"Didn't I tell you he couldn't go to school?" —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Midget Electric Motor

Ivan T. Neilland of Hillsboro, N. D., is the inventor and maker of what is said to be the smallest electric motor in the world. It is less than a quarter of an inch in length, but perfect in all details and operates faultlessly. About six years ago Mr. Neilland made and exhibited the smallest steam engine in the world that operated perfectly.

EDITORIAL

The surprise of the week in political circles was the announcement of the candidacy of Mr. Edward Mellus for the Republican nomination for state senator. While it is well known that Senator Rice has antagonized large groups of both men and women in the district, and is far from popular among his colleagues in the senate chamber, it was thought that no organized effort would be made to defeat him for re-nomination. Dr. Mellus, who has been active in the medical organizations in the city and in Middlesex county, has a host of friends, and will be a real factor in the result at the September primary.

It is a far cry from the welcoming ovation tendered the notorious Dan Coakley on his arrival in New York by the Massachusetts delegates to the National Democratic convention, to the offering of prayer at the meeting of the platform builders of that convention. Massachusetts is not honored by the contrast.

In an article on zoning in Greater Boston in a recent issue of the Boston Transcript, Newton's half baked zoning ordinance is deservedly criticized. Possibly under a new mayor it may be possible to have a real zoning ordinance in this city.

Now that the new traffic regulations are in effect, let us all do our best to observe them.

HARBOR TRIP FOR MEMBERS OF WORKING BOYS' HOME

More than a score of youngsters from the Working Boys' Home, were the guests Wednesday of Mr. John J. Martin, president of the Exchange Trust Company, who turned over his private power-boat, Wasaka III, for the use of the home for the day.

The merry company departed from the Boston Yacht Club pier in South Boston at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. The Wasaka, a big craft which Mr. Martin loaned to the government for war service, headed down the harbor for a complete tour.

Later in the day the boys were Mr. Martin's guests at a clam bake which comprised many other pleasing excursions. The plans for the day called for a return to Boston before sundown.

RESIGNATION OF MR. CROWELL

During his college work, Mr. Crowell will be remembered by West Newton people, as the director of young people's work at the Second Church, Rev. J. Edgar Park, minister.

When the war came, Mr. Crowell, then a student in Harvard, entered the 32nd Battalion, Heavy Tanks, in the U. S. Army. He was thirteen months in France.

In 1919, the war over, Mrs. Ellyer Peabody of W. Newton, recommended Mr. Crowell to the schools' superintendent, Ulysses G. Wheeler, for the principalship of the small Roger Wolcott building in Waban. Since that time, his educational advance has been phenomenal. In five years' time he has been promoted to the active leadership of four buildings, forty teachers, and over eleven hundred pupils. It will be difficult to find the man to fill the position Mr. Crowell leaves in our Newton schools.

At the Second Church, Mr. Crowell has aided Rev. J. Edgar Park, by acting as the Superintendent of the Church School, directing the young people's society and work, by serving in the executive committee, and being scout master of Troop 7, Boy Scouts.

In the community he has served as Trustee of the West Newton Music School, Secretary of the Newton Central Council, member of the Finance Committee of the Norumbega District Sunday School Association, Secretary of the Newton Schoolmasters' Club, Song Leader of the West Newton Men's Club, and has helped in the past in every fine cause.

In commenting upon the situation, Mr. Crowell said, "As director of the department of educational research and guidance in the Springfield schools, my opportunities to render service will be tremendously increased. It will be possible to help twenty-five thousand school children. The task will involve every phase of educational work, financial, statistical, educational, and social. Dr. Zenos E. Scott, Superintendent of the Springfield schools, is a recognized leader in education throughout the country, and I shall be in constant personal contact with him.

"Naturally," he continued, "I cannot leave Newton without much sadness, mingled with my joy. The boys and girls in my schools here, my Boy Scouts, the members of my young people's society, all hold a most dear spot in my heart. To leave them gives me greatest sorrow. And my teachers in day and Church School, my earnest, human, fellow scoutmasters, my leaders, Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Park,—of course it's hard! Both Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Park have been most kindly and patient with my weak efforts. With Miss Bragg, I have found a constant friend. To leave them all, were impossible unless larger opportunity for service presented itself. It has,—and I mean to enter it with enthusiasm and a willingness to work hard in the greatest of all service, education."

DEATH OF MR. MURPHY

Eugene Murphy 42, of 34 Emerson street, Newton, was found dead on the floor of a bed chamber of his house Monday by paper hanger who received very few complaints of disorder, and in fact he finds that the number of Italian criminals in Newton is less than any other race. His Honor the Mayor also spoke of the Italian contribution toward civilization, and of their contribution in Newton. Mr. Felix Porte spoke in English and brought out the injustice done to the Italian people by the passage of the Johnson's bill, and the unfair propaganda that the Italians as a race are receiving on the newspaper headlines.

He is survived by a wife and four children.

The funeral was held from his late home Wednesday morning with a solemn high mass of requiem at the Church of Our Lady at 10 o'clock. The burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

DEATH OF MR. POTTER

Herbert Sturgis Potter, for twenty-six years engaged in the electrical engineering and contracting business in Boston, died in that city on Sunday.

Mr. Potter was born in Newton on November 18, 1868. He was descended from one of the oldest Newton families and was the son of John Sturgis Potter, and Emily (Woodward) Potter. His grandfather on his father's side was John Cheney Potter of the leather firm of Potter, White, and Bialek, which was well known in that industry nearly a century ago.

After attending the Newton schools, Mr. Potter entered the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and after completing his education, went into the electrical establishment of his father in South Market street, Boston. After his father's death, Mr. Potter moved his business to 238-240 State street, where he carried it on under his own name. His concern had executed some of the largest electrical contracts in this vicinity.

Surviving him are his widow, a son, Herbert S. Potter, Jr., and a daughter, Mrs. Emily P. Hudson, the wife of Samuel P. Hudson, a Boston attorney. Mr. Potter was always interested in nautical matters and was active in yachting circles. He helped to organize the Boston Yacht Club at Hull and was a member of the Corinthian Yacht Club at Marblehead Neck. He belonged to the Engineer's Club and to the Boston Athletic Association.

Rev. Laurens MacLure, S. T. D., rector of Grace Church, Newton, conducted the funeral Wednesday morning at the Potter home, 63 Goddard avenue, Brookline. Burial was at Newton Cemetery.

M., Francesco Santucci, Comm. of F. U. M., Proff. W. Troiano, Cosimo Molina and Gerardo Cervone, representing a lodge from East Cambridge, Giuseppe Piacitelli of Maynard and Salvatore Cesario of Watertown. There was splendid music and Mr. Joseph Antonelli favored the audience with solos.

At the closing refreshments were served. The audience enjoyed the afternoon.

Chief of Police Burke in his remarks stated that in his long experience on the police force in Newton, he found the Italian people law abiding citizens, that although they constitute one ninth of the population of Newton he receives very few complaints of disorder, and in fact he finds that the number of Italian criminals in Newton is less than any other race. His Honor the Mayor also spoke of the Italian contribution toward civilization, and of their contribution in Newton. Mr. Felix Porte spoke in English and brought out the injustice done to the Italian people by the passage of the Johnson's bill, and the unfair propaganda that the Italians as a race are receiving on the newspaper headlines.

Navajo Monument in Northwestern Arizona

The Navajo national monument is within the great and little known Navajo Indian reservation in northeastern Arizona. It comprises tracts of land, each of which contains the ruins of a remarkable prehistoric cave pueblo or cliff dwelling in a good state of preservation. These are known as Betatakin (the Navajo name of side-hill house), Kistsil (meaning broken pottery) and Inscription house. The latter ruin derives its name from an inscription scratched into the clay plaster of a wall. It reads: "S-Hapeiro Ano-Dom 1661."

Betatakin is situated at an elevation of 7,000 feet in a great cave 450 feet long, with a maximum depth of 150 feet, in the side of a soft, red sandstone cliff, which forms the walls of a most picturesque and beautiful canyon, says the Detroit News. The cave roof projects far out over the village, which originally contained 120 rooms and occupied every foot of building space, but is so high that swirling storms have caused shrubbery to grow up to the very foundations of the ancient homes.

Kistsil is the largest of the cave pueblos and is appropriately named, as the open spaces between the apartments are strewn with broken pottery of the finest type produced by the ancient cliff dwellers. The village completely fills a cave 350 feet long and 50 feet deep. There are 148 rooms in all. Similar circular ceremonial chambers or kivas at the front of the cave and below the level of its floor indicate that the tribe occupying it was different from the clan that lived at Betatakin, as in the latter there are no rooms of this type. Kistsil is situated in a wooded canyon, the walls of which are warmly colored.

Dairymen of Jutland Find Co-operation Pays

Randers is a city of 27,000 inhabitants situated in the east central part of Jutland, writes E. F. Frazier in the Southern Workman. The co-operative dairy located there is an excellent example of how producers and consumers can meet in co-operative enterprises.

This dairy was established in 1913. At present it receives about 11,000,000 pounds of milk from 400 members living within a radius of between six and seven miles of the city. Each member pays an entrance fee of $10 per cow. The society owns 12 retail stores in the city and supplies 12 besides its own. Besides the annual dividend from the surplus each member receives three-fifths of a cent more per kilogram (2.2 pounds) than is offered by the privately owned dairies. The dairy supplies 65 per cent of the city's consumption, besides exporting 2,000 pounds of cream and 8,000 pounds of butter daily to be sold in its stores in England. In 1922 the society was able to pay its members a dividend of 17 cents on each 100 pounds of milk brought to the dairy.

Such an organization of production the smallest producer is afforded the same advantages as the largest, and all consumers are guaranteed a standard product.

Elephants Increasing

The elephant is a very useful animal, both for draft purposes and for ivory. A few years ago 70,000 were slaughtered annually for their tusks, so that it seemed as though there was a good chance of the big animals becoming extinct. Wise laws, however, have checked the destruction so that the number is increasing. The war gave the elephants their chance and the British authorities in East Africa have also protected them. South of Zambesi the elephant is virtually extinct and the Cape market for ivory has ceased to exist. At present Mozambique is the center of the ivory trade. Oddly enough the Portuguese, through whose hands it comes, send nearly all the ivory across to Bombay, where it is sorted and cut and dispatched to the European markets. The world's supply of real elephant ivory is now about 250 tons a year.—Scientific American.

Winter Wheat in France

If experiments now being made in Brittany are satisfactory, France will soon be growing American wheat. Brittany, one of the important wheat-growing districts of France, needs harder and sturdier wheat. The crops there have been good only every other year and with the co-operation of the French government officials, experiments have been made in testing samples of hard winter wheat. These samples, supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture, were from the state of Washington, which has about the same climate as Brittany.

Short and Sweet

The talk had turned on the subject of theatrical first nights and speeches at the fall of the curtain.

"I have had four plays produced," a playwright exclaimed, "and when I say authors should not make speeches, I know what I am talking about. But if you must speak, let your speech be as short as possible. I only once made a speech during those four unforgettable occasions, and it contained four words."

"What were they?" he was asked.

"And boo to you," he replied.

IDENTIFIES ONE AS AN ASSAILANT

One of the two colored men arrested after William Batchelder of 31 Jamieson street, Natick, stationary engineer in the B. & A. roundhouse at Riverside, had been clubbed unconscious Monday night, was identified Wednesday by Batchelder.

The two colored men were taken early Tuesday morning by patrolmen Saunders and O'Reilly and Wednesday a charge of assault and battery was made against one of them, James Williams, of 386 Main street, Rochester, N. Y., identified by Batchelder. The other man, LeRoy Brown, is being held as a vagrant and employee of the roundhouse, will endeavor to identify him.

Batchelder, who was going to work at 11 o'clock Monday night, went into a shanty near the roundhouse and surprised two colored men going through clothes that were in the shanty. James Dempsey of 605 Harrison avenue, South End, another employee, had lost his coat, keys and railroad pass, which were stolen. As Batchelder entered the shanty the men jumped at him and he cried for help.

He was struck on the head, he stated, by some blunt instrument in the hands of Williams. Batchelder's cries were heard by other employees and people living in the vicinity. The police were called and watched the main line and Highland Circuit tracks and main roads leading from Riverside. A doctor attended to Batchelder.

Williams and Brown, who both gave the same address in Rochester, protested their innocence when arrested, but Williams was positively identified today by Batchelder. The case was continued until tomorrow, and Williams was held in $1000 bonds.

Baked Peas Good, but Can't Supersede Beans

I like baked peas; we have them once a month, says Arthur Staples, in the Lewiston (Me.) Journal. They are not so good as baked beans that you can eat twenty times a month and have brand new four times a month in a bean pot all your own. We are not raising good baked-bean experts nowadays. They must use reasonably new beans—old beans are not so good—and they ought to be baked until they just about burst their sides with richness.

I like to see them roll out so that they gleam in the candlelight like rubies on a string. They ought to swim about like bubbles in the golden fatness, and the pork ought to look like the covers of an old book, ruddy-brown and aged with beauty.

Baked peas are done exactly like baked beans, pork and all, baked in the pot and brown as berries—though just which berry is "brown" is difficult to say.

There is another dish that my mother used to make. She used to take apples and peel, quarter and core them, put in a certain amount of brown sugar and some other things and put the whole in a bean pot. Bake them in a slow oven—she used to bake them in the old brick oven with its slow heat that lasted for many hours. When they come out they are like a jelly. The substance is as red as the cheek of a Baldwin. My wife has tried it, but it seems hardly as good as it used to be.

Every Permanent Resident SHOULD Be A HOME OWNER

There are always two types of residents in every community—permanent and transient.

By permanent we mean those who have businesses of their own or what they believe to be permanent positions.

Every such resident owes it to himself as well as to his community to be a home-owner.

It makes you MORE permanent but does not prevent you from moving if opportunity or necessity dictates it. It DOES, however, give you the full benefit of every dollar you pay for shelter instead of putting it into the pocket of some one else.

A good home, well planned, substantially built and properly located is a wonderful asset for the family whether you stay here or go elsewhere.

Let us help you plan and build that kind of a home NOW. Every day counts in cash for or against you. Don't put it off any longer.

Scientific Interest in Excavations at Kish

In a letter to the London Times of January 22, Professor Langdon, writing from Mesopotamia, gives an account of the results to date of this season's excavations at Kish. Among an amount of pearl and limestone in-laid work discovered in a mound constructed entirely of plano-convex bricks, characteristic of the oldest Sumerian architecture, was a rectangular tablet of slate which shows a king of Kish smiting his Sumerian enemies. Their closely shaven heads, cheeks and upper lips, but long beards, indicate a date earlier than Ur-Lagash, c. 3100 B. C. Taken with other pearl heads found here, this disposes of the theory that the Semites occupied Kish in the prehistoric period. The discovery north of Inghara of two large Sumerian buildings in a state of complete preservation has made possible the preparation of the only known plan of a large Sumerian palace. Below the plano-convex brick pavement, which cannot be later than 3100 B. C., was an accumulated deposit of 15 feet, representing at least 1500 to 2000 years' previous occupation, and therefore going back to about 5000 B. C. A complete sequence of pottery from the earliest Sumerian period down to Nebuchadnezzar has been established, and a series of fine copper implements has been found. The general result of the excavations brings into prominence the enormous extent of the ruins, which, if grouped contiguously, would cover 120 acres, the very great antiquity of the site, and the priority of the Sumerians.

Rich in Albumen, Lupin Seed Is Made Valuable

Not only in the Mediterranean region, but also along the western coast of America, there grow freely tall, handsome spikes of blue-white or yellow flowers that form entrancing bits of color in the landscape during the season for blossoming, and are not infrequently used as a garden flower. It is the lupin, which belongs to the family of leguminous vegetables, to which mankind owes much, and which includes beans and peas as well as peanuts, says the Literary Digest. As in other members of the family the fruit of the lupin consists of seed-bearing pods, but no attempt has been made to use them either for forage or for human food until recently, says the Detroit News. It is now announced that by a German process, the Pohl method of extraction, said to be quite inexpensive, the seeds can be made to yield an uncommonly high percentage of albumen, which, added to rye or other flour, makes an extremely nutritious food. This new bread is likewise admirably fitted to form part of a diet of certain (presumably diabetic) patients because of the small amount of starch it contains.

"Jazz" in Dictionary

The word "jazz" has already found its way to the scholarly dictionary, where it is defined as "a form of syncopated music played in discordant tones on various instruments, such as the banjo, saxophone, trombone, flageolet, drum and piano." But this definition is incomplete. In the jazz band there are kettle-drums, cow-bells, kitchen pans, tin whistles, baby's rattles, etc. The "music" is full of shrieks, screams, moans and explosions. The leader usually adopts a suitable ironic attitude. With cap set on one side of his head he prances around, rolls his eyes and twists his face into all kinds of simian contortions. The inspiration for all this was found among excited savages.

Like Time and Tide

An elderly woman, who has lived most of her life at Franklin, but now lives with a son at Chicago, has been obtaining much enjoyment from his radio receiving set. Early every morning she tunes in, and listens to programs of music, weather forecasts, and other such matter thrust over the broadcasters. Recently she tuned into a station that was broadcasting recipes. One of the recipes started out as if it might be good. "Just wait a minute, will you, till I get pencil and paper?" she asked. When she came to a moment later the station was signing off.—Indianapolis News.

To Halt Shifting Sands

Oil is being used to prevent sand from being drifted by the wind across the tracks of the Oregon-Washington Railroad and Navigation company and impeding or even preventing traffic. Dunes near the tracks in the Columbia river valley are sprayed with crude petroleum which has been heated so as to secure the required fluidity. A thin layer of asphaltic material then forms on the sand and so prevents the drifting of the surface. One application serves for at least a year and in some locations for as many as two or three.

More Autos in Europe

The use of motor vehicles is increasing as rapidly in other countries as in the United States. The development has progressed most rapidly in the English-speaking countries. Great Britain has 655,318, Canada 642,571 and Australia 139,540. France stands next to the British empire, with 400,000.

TRAFFIC RULES ENFORCED

The police department began Monday morning to enforce the new traffic regulations in Nonantum square and four officers were kept continuously on the job of directing the traffic in the new routes.

At this point Chief Burke so arranged the one-way streets as to have all traffic moving in one direction. Cars make a complete circle of the Bank Building. Hall street is one way from Washington to Centre, Washington is one way from Centre to Hall; Centre street is one way from Hall to Washington.

The rules have worked out as intended with but one hitch. Automobiles coming from Watertown going to Boston, instead of making a short turn around the Middlesex and Boston street railway terminal onto Washington street, are now compelled to turn from Centre street onto Washington, go up Washington in the direction of Newtonville, turn down Hall street back to Centre and thence to Washington again in the direction of Boston, making the detour a distance of about 300 yards.

Police officers are equipped with the traffic tags, similar to Boston's and more than 100 violations have been noted. All cars are tagged and the owners are compelled to call at Police Headquarters for instructions. A second violation of the same regulation will mean prosecution.

CAMP FRANK A. DAY

On July 19th the new library and boat house at Camp Frank A. Day will be presented to the 1924 campers. Many friends have contributed toward this fine new library and boat house, and an invitation is extended to all friends and parents of the campers to visit the camp on this occasion. Mayor E. O. Childs will be the speaker and after the dedicatory exercises there will be water sports for the entertainment of the visitors.

This building is a great addition to the camp, and is already much appreciated by both the leaders and campers and the parents who have occasion to visit the camp.

The boat house and library is situated on the pointed land extending out into the lake, and from the wide veranda a view up and down the lake can be obtained.

The Women's Auxiliary of the Newton Y. M. C. A. has furnished the building very suitably, and the Newton Rotary Club has contributed the money to buy a large number of books for the library.

Those going by auto to the camp should turn to the left at Brookfield and keep turning to the left until they reach the camp. Signs will point the way.

NEWTON ELKS ACTIVE

Newton Lodge of Elks has taken an active interest in entertaining the members of that fraternity now visiting in Boston.

The lodge has had an information booth near Weston bridge on Commonwealth avenue, where incoming Elks could find assistance. A 30-foot banner was stretched across the avenue bearing a large Elk's head and clock with the greeting, "Welcome to the Garden City of New England." Messrs. Harold Moore and Wilford Chagnon were in charge during the three days it was maintained.

The lodge also had quarters at 87 Beacon street, where visiting Elks and their ladies were heartily welcomed and served with light refreshments. Over 1000 persons had registered at these rooms by Wednesday night. Mr. Joseph J. Doherty was host on Monday, Mr. Walter L. Woodman on Tuesday, and Exalted Ruler Willard L. Sampson and Alderman John H. Gordon received on Wednesday. Messrs. Franz Bagley and William Hopkins of the House committee were active at these rooms, and were ably assisted by Mrs. E. N. Soules. The rooms were not open on Thursday afternoon during the parade, but were opened last evening for Newton Elks only.

In the big parade yesterday afternoon, the lodge had 300 men in line, all in palm beach suits, with straw hats, purple hat bands and neckties and carrying canes. The band of Post 26, American Legion, furnished music. A big feature of the parade was a three weeks old baby elk, kindly loaned for the occasion by Norumbega Park. There was one float containing a few of the older members of the lodge, Capt. A. D. W. Sampson being the oldest, and having undoubtedly the distinction of being the oldest elk in the parade. Previous to the Boston parade, the members marched through Vernon street, Park street, Washington street, and Centre Place to the railroad station.

JOHNSON-FRASER

The marriage is announced of Miss Margaret Lillian Paisley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles John Fraser Paisley, of Stow, Scotland, to Richard Newhall Johnson, son of the Mrs. Otis Stafford Johnson of Newton Centre, and the late Otis S. Johnson of Colorado Springs. The ceremony was performed on July 4 at St. George's United Free Church in Edinburgh, Scotland, by Rev. John Hutton of Stow, Scotland. Only the members of the immediate families and close friends were present. Stafford Johnson of Newton, brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man and the bride was attended by her sister, Kathleen Paisley, as maid of honor. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of Harvard College, of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, 1923. He and his bride will make their home near Boston.

NEW REAL ESTATE OFFICE

Well known Boston realtors establish Newton Centre office on July 15th at 624 Commonwealth avenue. The Edward T. Harrington Co. is one of the largest clearing houses of high grade real estate in New England. The new office at Newton Centre is in charge of Willis B. Fellows, a young man of wide business experience.

PLAYGROUND ACTIVITIES

Complete Schedule of Supervised Play at All Playgrounds in the City

The playgrounds of Newton are supervised from 9 o'clock in the morning until dark, during July and August every week day. During these hours there is on each playground, a man or woman director and during the hours when there are large crowds of youngsters present there may be two directors looking out for the welfare of the children.

There is quite a little unorganized street and open lot play still going on in Newton and although this is a valuable form of neighborhood play for children it has its dangers when children unthinkingly and carelessly rush into the street to recover a football. The safest play for children, in most of our districts, is on the playgrounds where they are under constant supervision.

On some of the playgrounds where no bathing facilities are connected with the playground the director arranges for daily visits to the nearest bathing beach. The hours for these visits depends on the locality. The parents should consult with the local director when and where different activities are scheduled.

Some parents have made inquiry as to what time of day and what days of the week special activities are taught. We give the schedule of the special teachers below.

Boys and girls interested in practice for track and field work should consult with the local director as to when special instruction is being given in these activities.

Hours for bathing at Crystal Lake and Auburndale. Inquire about time schedule at the bathhouse. There are shower baths at Burr, Newton Centre, Thompsonville and Stearns. The local director will give information about time schedules for boys or girls and for men or women.

There are bathing beaches at Crystal Lake, Auburndale, Upper Falls and Allison playgrounds.

GARBAGE PLANT ENJOINED

William H. Mague, the owner of the garbage plant on Lexington street, has been forever enjoined by decree of Judge McLaughlin "from operating and maintaining said garbage plant in such manner in respect to the emanation of strong, disagreeable, and offensive odors, as to interfere with the reasonable comfort and enjoyment of life by the plaintiff (John L. Keith) in the occupation of his premises."

This action is the result of steps taken some time ago by Mr. Keith to require Mr. Mague to move his plant from this rather rapidly growing section of the city. It is understood that it will be almost impossible for Mr. Mague to keep within the terms of the decree of Judge McLaughlin and that as a consequence it is probable he may have to vacate the Lexington street premises which have been used for a garbage station for over thirty years.

BOY SCOUTS

Since the first of May fifty-one Merit Badges have been awarded to scouts in Norumbega Council, twenty-six scouts advanced to second class and nine advanced to first class. By the reorganization of troop eleven and the reorganization of troop ten, Waban, there have been thirty-seven scouts and six officers added and in addition fourteen tenderfoot scouts have been added to other troops.

Scout leaders are wanted for several sections of the city of Newton and also in Wellesley. The troop in Nonantum has not had the benefit of regular meetings for want of a leader and it is believed that with the help of an efficient leader that a good troop can be built up in Newton Upper Falls. Men of mature age, preferably fathers of boys of scout age or men who like boys and are willing to spend a little time in preparation for the work are urged to get in touch with the commissioner, Mr. J. M. Carley at 128 Jewett street, Newton. Almost everyone agrees that the scout work is of value to the future as well as the present generation and this is a form of public service that is possible for men and at the same time enables them to get real recreation, the scout program being of such a nature that outdoor work is of the most value.

Quite a number of important changes have been made by National Council, Boy Scouts of America, recently. One of the most important is that a scout who is physically debarred from passing certain of the tests may, on application, be granted an "achievement" badge which will enable him to work for Merit Badges. Previously if a scout could not do the "mile at scout's pace" for the second class grade or swim fifty yards and make his fourteen mile hike for first class he would not be allowed to pass Merit Badge examinations, this being restricted to First Class scouts. After January 1st, 1925 the present service stripe is to be abandoned and the service star, (one for each year up to five) substituted therefor. For five years' service the veteran scout badge of the present type or a five year star will be worn.

THE FOURTH

The features of the observance in this city of the Fourth last Friday centered around an unusual number of drunks.

For instance, within 24 hours seven men were arrested for operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. This is a new Newton record. Also 25 men were arrested for drunkenness—another new record. Furthermore, four men are charged with assaulting a police officer, all because they were drunk. Three different policemen were assaulted.

At Riverside there were many rescues. In one canoe tipover, four men were involved, one of whom was too drunk to stand up when he fell into the shallow water. Patrolman Edward Roche rowed to his side, hauled him out and arrested him.

The fire record included a brush fire at Beacon and Walnut streets and a false alarm from box 443 both early in the morning. There were two alarms in the afternoon, one from box 53 for a blaze caused by fire crackers at 1699 Centre street, Newton Highlands, occupied by A. F. Fairweather, and one from box 172 for a fire caused by a lighted gas jet in the house of W. J. Hanley, at 79 Jewett street, Newton. Late at night there was fire on a pile of rubbish at the corner of Centre and Williams street, Newton.

Only one automobile accident was reported. An automobile owned by the American Auto Wrecking Company of 11 Court street, Newtonville, crashed into a tree on Tremont street. The driver, Leo Marange of 40 Broadway, Somerville, was taken to the Newton Hospital in a police ambulance. He was treated for injuries to the legs and face.

At Riverside, Patrolmen Edward Roche and John Austin rescued a father, mother and young son, when their canoe tipped over.

The usual Fourth of July festivities took place at the Brae Burn Country Club, where a large dinner party started the celebration. Fireworks followed and then dancing on the lawn was enjoyed. At the Woodland Golf Club 275 covers were laid for a dinner and dancing and fireworks were enjoyed during the evening.

HIGH SCHOOL CHANGES

Public Buildings Commissioner Chadwick opened bids last week for making alterations and changes in the Classical High School by removing the laboratories to the Technical Building, replacing the present assembly hall with study and class rooms, and increasing the capacity of the building by ten class rooms. There were four bidders on the general contract, John Duff, $24,240; John McDonald Con. Co., $38,214; C. S. Cunningham Con. Co., $42,600 and W. H. Whitcomb Con. Co., $40,642. The general contract was awarded to John Duff, the heating to McLean and Cousens, $8,832; the plumbing to H. W. Orr Co., $1,918; and the electric work to E. C. Lewis, $3,292. These totals with additional items for contingencies, architects' fees, amount to $46,409.77.

The school committee has approved a location for the proposed new building on the south side of Elm road, in line with the present Classical High School.

Authority will be asked of the city government to tear down the war time sheds in the rear of the Technical High School and to build an extension to the power house so as to provide room for an auto school.

EDITORIAL

In conversation with persons interested in a recent decision of our courts, we were shocked to hear one person say "To hell with the courts." This remark was not made by a red radical, or even one with a pinkish tinge, but was made by a man who has taken, as an elected city official, an oath to support the constitution and the laws of Massachusetts and the United States. Moreover, as the head of a great fraternity, he has repeatedly urged its members to honor the American flag and all that it represents. We cannot believe that this statement represents this person's attitude towards our government, and it was probably spoken in a moment of peevishness and irritation. But we cite this case in order to urge upon our readers the patriotic duty of supporting the judicial, as well as the legislative and executive branches of our government, at all times, whether or not we personally agree with the acts of those placed in authority. Every loose sentiment, such as mentioned above, only adds to the discontent of others, often less educated than ourselves, and will in time inevitably lead to anarchy and ruin. Look well to our tongues, therefore.

The disintegration of the once powerful Democratic party should be a cause of deep concern to the Republican party, and not an occasion for rejoicing. With a strong Democratic ticket party lines in the northwest states, where the radical element is rampant, would be strictly drawn, while with a disrupted party, disgruntled Democrats, would probably vote for LaFollette, making it increasingly difficult for Coolidge to win electoral votes in that section of the country, and thus throw the election into the present unsatisfactory House of Representatives in Washington.

Once more we note with regret that our court judges are imposing fines and suspended jail sentences on persons convicted of operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor. Fines mean nothing to this class of potential murderers, whose next victims may be beloved members of our family or yours.

We urge our readers to be most careful in signing nomination papers for the various candidates for the United States Senate, and to give the matter the serious consideration it deserves.

With nearly 50,000 population, it is a disgrace that Newton allowed Independence Day to pass without an attempt to publicly celebrate the birthday of the nation.

The order of Elks stands for Brotherly Love, Justice, Charity and Fidelity. No wonder it numbers nearly a million members drawn from all classes and creeds.

The display of rambler roses thruout the city this week has been one of the most beautiful sights of the summer.

IT PAYS TO VOTE

Because he lacked ten votes in the last election, the contest of the Republican opponent of a New York Democratic congressman has been lost and the Democrat retains his seat. That means that the New York delegation in the house retains its Democratic majority, which, in turn, means that if the presidential election is thrown into the house the vote of New York will be recorded in favor of the Democratic candidate and, as the states are about equally divided in the political complexion of their congressional delegations, New York may cast the deciding vote that puts a democrat in the White House for four years. In other words, ten Republican voters who did not think it worth while to attend the polls in November, 1922, may be responsible for the loss of the nation to the Democratic party, with all the extravagance, higher taxes, bigger debt, and general economic disorganization that such a result would bring.

All this direful program probably will not occur, but it may. Seldom has there been a more dramatic demonstration of the value of the individual vote. At every election many thousands of voters stay away from the polls who think, "What's the use? My single vote will not change the result one way or the other." A great many of those slackers pay dearly for their lack of public spirit, although they may not know it. Many a political contest has been won by the faction which showed most enterprise in getting out its vote and recording its full strength, although the other side would have gained a decisive victory had all its members performed their civic duty. If those who did not think it worth while to vote find themselves burdened with an inefficient government they have only themselves to blame. Let voters bear the New York incident in mind and see to it that their ballots are recorded at every election held in their jurisdiction.—Sioux Falls (S. D.) Argus-Leader.

JOHN BOYLE O'REILLY CLUB

Almost one hundred members and friends of the John Boyle O'Reilly Club met in their hall in this city last Monday evening to celebrate the eightieth anniversary of the birth of the famous writer and poet for whom the club was named. S. G. Timothy O'Connell presided and presented J. D. Monahan who gave an interesting talk on the life of John Boyle O'Reilly, dwelling upon his birth in Ireland, his enlistment in the English Army, and his arrest as a member of a revolutionary society to bring about Ireland's freedom, and his sentence to death which was afterward commuted to life imprisonment. During the course of his remarks the speaker also read a few lines of his own entitled "Kind Heart" written in memory of the late poet, and which were published in the Boston Pilot thirty-four years ago.

Other speakers were M. J. Cunniff of Watertown, who read with much feeling some of Mr. O'Reilly's poems, John Rowan of Wayland, "Squire" McLaughlin of Waltham, J. J. Herlihy, R. H. Lyons of this city.

The meeting was one of the largest ever held by the club which was represented by a large attendance of its own members, and had as guests brothers from Boston, Lynn, Waltham, Wellesley, and Watertown. Much of the credit for the success of the meeting belongs to Brother O'Connell who headed the committee on arrangements and who has always given the club the best that was in him.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Week ending July 5:—Patients in hospital 98, patients paying as much or more than cost of care 46, patients paying less than cost of care 35, free patients (including babies) 17, patients treated by out patient department 56, accident cases 7, babies born 8, social service calls at hospital 16, at homes 6, patients transported by social service car 7.

During the month of June the hospital admitted 331 patients and discharged 335, the daily average number of patients was 113.77, the largest number on any one day being 131 and the smallest 103. The out patient department treated 288 cases and the X-ray department 111. The number of babies born during the month was 39. Sixty-three social service calls were made at the hospital and 37 at homes. Forty-three patients were transported to different clinics in the social service car.

Fourth of July was a dull do-nothing day at the hospital. There was no excitement of any kind, nothing unusual except unusually humdrum. There was not a single baby born during the day, there were no Fourth of July accidents nor any other accidents to be cared for, it was altogether a dull, quiet day.

The hospital has been fortunate recently in the number and beauty of flowers sent to it. Roses seem never to have been more beautiful nor fragrant. A very generous number were sent by Mr. Brigham from the Newton Rose Conservatory and a number of others have sent many from their private gardens.

A gentleman who has taken much interest in the hospital lately says that the hospital's endowment fund ought to be at least twice as large as it is. It is a pleasing thing to be able to say that there is a growing interest in the hospital and the work it is doing for all the people of Newton, and it is hoped there is a growing realization of the truth that money given to the hospital is used for the benefit of the people of Newton. Once Newton really takes hold the Newton Hospital will be known from one end of the country to the other. Even now its work has placed it among hospitals of the first rank, but it can be better, it can be bigger and it can do greater service if only it has to work with the funds it ought to have.

Miss Inez Wright, an affliating student from the Charles A. Dean hospital at Greenville, Me., has completed her six months of study and returned to Maine.

Miss Eva F. M. Hunt has resigned as dietician at the hospital after service of a year and a half to go as dietician at a sanitarium in Mattapan. She will be succeeded at the hospital by Miss Carrie Hall, who has been at the Children's Hospital in Maine.

Miss Eleanor Jones, the record librarian, Miss Muriel Darling, clerk, and Miss Dorris Reed, the second assistant, start on their vacations Saturday of this week. Miss Ruth Gray, one of the telephone operators, is spending her vacation at Lynn Beach.

After a year in the English High School he entered the employ of Grant, Daniel and Co., paper dealers on Union street, which subsequently became Grant, Warren & Co., remaining with this firm until the close of 1857. February 1858, in company with his brother, William, he formed the firm of Frost Brothers, dealers in paper and paper-makers' materials. On Jan. 1, 1860, the firm became Frost and Taylor, until it was dissolved by mutual consent September, 1868. On April 2, 1856 Mr. Frost married Bethia Tower Lohrop Pratt, who died April 18, 1879. There was one son born to them, Arthur Hamilton Frost. The larger part of Mr. Frost's eighty-nine years has been spent in total darkness. As a result of fits in 1860 he became totally blind. After retiring from business he studied the works of the best authors—fiction, history, essays, biography, metaphysics, and with the help of his daughter-in-law he learned to play on the piano more than 200 hymns, largely from "Hymns, Ancient and Modern" and the Episcopal Hymnal. Mr. Frost united with the Mount Vernon Congregational Church of Boston in March, 1853, and he had always been deeply interested in religious affairs. For the past eight years he had lived at 73 Chestnut street, West Newton, but previous to that he had resided for more than 40 years in Boston.

DEATH OF MR. RAND

Following an illness of nearly a year, William Bisbane Rand, for many years identified with the printing trade, died Sunday at his home, 31 Parker street, Newton Centre. He was in his sixty-first year and was president of the William B. Rand Company, Inc., printers, Boston. For many years Mr. Rand had made his home in Dorchester, but about five years ago moved to Newton Centre. Mr. Rand was born in Philadelphia, Aug. 3, 1862. As a young man he moved to Dorchester, where he lived more than 30 years, and established the printing company bearing his name, which now has offices at 289 Congress street. During his life in Dorchester he took an active interest in politics, led in organizing Dorchester Masonic Lodge, and was senior warden of St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Throughout his life, Mr. Rand had been active in Masonic circles. While a resident of Dorchester, he was worshipful master of Dorchester Lodge, A. F. & A. M. During 25 years he was secretary of Dorchester R. A. Chapter, and was secretary of Union Lodge, 10 years and had also been recorder of Boston Council, R. & S. M., three years. He was enrolled in Boston Commandery, K. T. The surviving members of Mr. Rand's family are his widow, who was Annie Victoria Crowell of Philadelphia; one daughter, Mrs. Alwin E. Worman of Attleboro, and two sons, Joseph C. Rand of Newton Centre and Monroe C. Rand of Wellesley Hills. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Trinity Church, Newton Centre. Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D. D., conducted the Episcopal ritual, following which there was a Masonic service under the direction of Worshipful Master Arthur McCoy of Dorchester lodge. Honorary pallbearers were Arthur Wisegin, Angus Cameron, William Schallenbach, Angus Cameron, William Schallenbach, W. T. H. Salter, Frank M. Weymouth and George M. Rogers. The body was taken to Forest Hills Cemetery for cremation.

OAK-RAYMOND

At the home on Montvale road in Newton Centre, of Judge Robert Fulton Raymond, of the Superior Court, and Mrs. Raymond, their daughter, Miss Grace Brewster Raymond, was married late on Wednesday afternoon to Lyndon Hewitt Oak, of Los Angeles, Calif., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ora Oak of that city. The officiating minister was Rev. Ralph Emerson Davis, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Newton Centre. The bride's only attendant was a small flower girl, Evelyn Ogg, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Ogg, neighbors of Judge and Mrs. Raymond. The bride's brother, Robert F. Raymond, was best man. There was a small informal reception, at which the number present was so limited that the services of ushers were not required. The bride is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, class of 1922, and the bridegroom, who is now a research chemist, is a graduate of the University of California. Following a wedding journey by motor car, Mr. and Mrs. Oak will make their home in Cambridge.

NEWTON MAN SUES

Alleging that he has been deprived of property through fraudulent practices and conspiracy, George Defren of Newton has filed suit in East Cambridge Superior Civil Court for $150,000 against Charles G. Bancroft, Framingham, and the International Trust Company, Boston. Defren alleges that in 1920, as head of the Avery Chemical Company, he borrowed $195,000 from the Trust Company, giving as collateral, 250 $1000 6-percent mortgage bonds of the Chemical Company. In the fall of 1920, Defren claims the Trust Company sold these bonds at the Boston Real Estate Exchange, and, as only bidder, bought them for $160,000. Then, Defren alleges, at a receiver's sale, the Trust Company bought the Chemical Company's assets for $9000 above all liens by the General Assets Company, owned by the defendant.

FAVORS BETTER ZONING

Dear Editor:

Your brief not, showing that the idea of zoning is not dead, and the activity of the people down in the Highlands a short time ago, encourages me to ask you for a brief comment.

It seems to be an opinion, rapidly becoming common, that building and real estate operations in general are only in part a private matter.

Springfield is now experiencing bitterness because she neglected to take this view some time ago. "This city had every possibility for a lovely community," said a prominent citizen, not long ago. "A few speculators have been able to ruin it. Our planning board is too late."

Just why Mayor Childs refused to sign a single residence zone I never found out, but look each day on the melancholy results of the present law. Now a new problem must be considered: How shall a city like Newton protect her future?

Born in Newton, I have always thought of her as a residential city, a city of homes, of gardens, trees, and beauty. When you see a sign House lots fifty dollars and up you can see the end of beauty and NEWTON near that situation.

The city of Washington has a planning board that insures the city against any degradation. There, if you wish to build you must submit your plans, and all color ideas to the board. If your plans and colors agree in a desirable and artistic way with the surroundings, you may build, otherwise not.

Why should Newton not have such protection? Few men can afford to buy enough land to protect his neighborhood. The constant temptation is to crowd in with cheap buildings, lacking taste and structure, where others have made the situation desirable by their sense of beauty.

Brookline, too late, is making a frantic effort to protect herself with zoning laws. The ancient beauty of that town is almost gone.

Too late. Too late. Must that be our lamentation also? Must we see, one by one, our most desirable people crowded out by the advance of speculators and their care nothing for our city or its future?

Must we live to see Newton join the ranks of the ghost cities that look back on dreams of what we might have been, and, shuddering, realize what we have become?

Ernest Cobb.

SEVEN REFERENDUMS

Thus far there are seven referendum questions to go on the ballot at the State election in November, most of them being questions which were passed by the Legislature two years ago.

Among the questions which call for an expression of public opinion is whether the State shall favor an amendment to the Federal Constitution to prohibit young children in industry, and whether the State shall continue the daylight-saving law.

Other questions to be submitted to the people by reference of the Legislature are whether the voters favor changing the law by striking out the word "male" so that women shall have equal rights, and whether women shall be enabled to hold any State, county or municipal office on an equal basis with men.

The voters will also be called upon to express their wishes as to whether the State shall adopt a law making it an offense to manufacture or transport liquor, so that the State shall have laws to support the Federal prohibition act; whether there shall be a tax of two cents a gallon on all gasoline sold, the money to be used for highways, and whether foreign bankers accepting money on deposit shall be compelled to file a bond with the State treasurer.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by
Leverett D. G. Bentley

More than one query has come to us regarding our campaign against bicycle riding on sidewalks. It would be a great pleasure if we were able to say that the campaign had reached a successful conclusion. Although not prepared to make such an assertion we do feel warranted in stating that we think that much-desired results have been accomplished. There seems to be less of it at any rate. Maybe the fact that there are many people away from the Summer has something to do with it. And yet we do not like to think that those of our friends who have the good fortune to enjoy Summer homes at the shore or in the country are more ready to break the laws than the friends and neighbors they have left behind. Our campaign has proved that the boys of the villages are to blame. We are disposed to believe them thoughtless. And yet we know of no way to make them thoughtful other than through the process of law. Whether a judicial lecture or the imposition of a nominal fine makes any great impression on the youth of today we cannot say. Off-hand we should say that it does not. However, there must be some little embarrassment in receiving a summons to appear in court and surely it breaks in on one's time to have a journey to West Newton and spend a large part of the morning that might otherwise be devoted to some pleasanter occupation. We shall continue to refer to the subject of bicycle riding on sidewalks until we are satisfied that it is no longer necessary. We would like to think that such a time will arrive within a comparatively short period. Most Newton people will hail the day with joy. Our suggestion is that there be held a "No Bicycle Riding on Sidewalks Week." This surely would stimulate interest for at least seven days. After that we might find that these bicyclists, having had an opportunity to test the excellent street surfaces of Newton, would come to prefer them to the sidewalks. We will gladly go further with this scheme if some readers will agree to serve on the committees of publicity, entertainment and prizes.

A newspaper story of the passing of the last livery hack in Newton gave us much pleasure to read. The writer's facile style, coupled with the thought that some hard-working horses were likely to have an easier job, brought us much satisfaction. There was a time when there was glory in riding in a hack. For our own part we never did much of it except on formal occasions or when business made it compulsory. But when we did we were a liveryed gentleman wearing a pad-dock coat of dark blue with large shining buttons. We would have in this paragraph called such a driver a Jehu had we not had a sad experience in that connection. When first seeking to thrill the world with our reportorial efforts we tried to compliment a hack-driver for a courageous act in stopping a pair of runaway horses. We referred to him as a "dauntless Jehu" and felt as we typed the phrase that we had put over something that was pretty good. It seems our little tribute was lost on the hero of our story. He had not heard of "Jehu" and was not complimented when called on in print. As a matter of fact he looked upon it as a reflection on his character. To him we had insinuated that his habits were not firm in the presence of alcoholic beverages. The truth was they were not but to call attention to such a weakness was not in our mind. It took us considerably explaining to convince this hack-driver that we were not giving him a back-handed knock. We were going to show him the dictionary but when we consulted it beforehand we found Jehu was the son of Nimshi. This we knew would be still harder to explain in spite of the Scriptural authority. We started out to pay our tribute to the hacks of bygone days. The coupe, once so popular where now hilly taxis are used, was called by the drivers a "coop" but nevertheless it had its uses. It was lighter but by no means as imposing in appearance. No, the hacks, say what you will, were "some class" once upon a time and were respected as evidence of either permanent or temporary wealth. We will not permit them to be slandered or made the subject of jest—we just can't.

A newspaper story of the passing of the last livery hack in Newton gave us much pleasure to read. The writer's facile style, coupled with the thought that some hard-working horses were likely to have an easier job, brought us much satisfaction. There was a time when there was glory in riding in a hack. For our own part we never did much of it except on formal occasions or when business made it compulsory. We would have in this paragraph called such a driver a Jehu had we not had a sad experience in that connection. When first seeking to thrill the world with our reportorial efforts we tried to compliment a hack-driver for a courageous act in stopping a pair of runaway horses. We referred to him as a "dauntless Jehu" and felt as we typed the phrase that we had put over something that was pretty good. It seems our little tribute was lost on the hero of our story. He had not heard of "Jehu" and was not complimented when called on in print. As a matter of fact he looked upon it as a reflection on his character. To him we had insinuated that his habits were not firm in the presence of alcoholic beverages. The truth was they were not but to call attention to such a weakness was not in our mind. It took us considerably explaining to convince this hack-driver that we were not giving him a back-handed knock. We were going to show him the dictionary but when we consulted it beforehand we found Jehu was the son of Nimshi. This we knew would be still harder to explain in spite of the Scriptural authority. We started out to pay our tribute to the hacks of bygone days. The coupe, once so popular where now hilly taxis are used, was called by the drivers a "coop" but nevertheless it had its uses. We will not permit them to be slandered or made the subject of jest—we just can't.

"A Reader," we take it for granted that she is "constant" like all her sex, has suggested that there should be a song written for "Newton." The letter points out to us the "perfectly striking" possibilities that Newton offers as the subject of a modern minstrel's lay. The need of such a song for Newton organizations, school children, etc. is also emphasized. We have a notion that our correspondent has a chuckle or two concealed somewhere above the cuff of her tennis jacket. Had she suggested that we prepare the lyric of such a song we would have been convinced of her deep sense of humor. As we returned the letter to its writer we thought of how a serious writer or verse writer tackle such a job—in Newton. Just what subjects would inspire him? Would he skip from one thought to another or would he try to bring in everything of interest in our beloved burg? We fancy he would start on Newton's natural pride with something like this:

"All Newton hearts are strong and true,
And none can say us nay,
Or Doubt our faith is lasting as
The job held by our Mayor."
Then the poet might turn to the higher branches of thought and indite such lines as these:

"Newton children never wander,
For they love their city well,
And we owe it to our School Board,
As most everyone will tell;
Learning is the thing we dwell on,
For they have no wish to roam,
For we have a noble motto,
"Build a school for every home."
If this rhapsodist wanted to make it a topical song he might easily dash off a verse like this:

"Other cities may want nothing
But to keep streets free and clear,
Still, let love our traffic problems
Daily in Nonantum Square."

We had the privilege of a personal meeting with an accomplished entertainer whose dialect stories were among the very best we have ever heard. Although he told some war stories he was otherwise right up to the minute. And yet one of the yarns of "over there" convulsed us. We are going to try and repeat it for the benefit of our readers but we do not expect them to be as completely amused as we were. It seems that a negro soldier was about to go "over the top" for the first time. He was a trifle unnerved but not afraid. His captain warned him, "Now, remember, don't attempt to go straight ahead, but zig-zag. Do you understand, zig-zag." The soldier read his duty without flinching. He came through it with his life but with many minor injuries. When his captain next saw him he was in a hospital, his head and a greater part of his body swathed in bandages. "Great Scott," explained the captain, "what happened to you? Didn't you remember what I said? I told you not to go straight ahead but to zig-zag." "Yes, boss," replied the wounded soldier, "I does remember and tried, but I guess I must have been zigging when I ought to have been zagging."

It would be interesting to know how many of those political gatherings who so readily join in the song, "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here!" know it comes from the Gilbert & Sullivan opera, "The Pirates of Penzance." Doubtless they would be much surprised to learn this and the additional fact that no such words were written by W. S. Gilbert as those we hear today. What would Sir Arthur Sullivan say were he alive to listen to his music thus ill-treated?

Another Summer session of the Board of Aldermen in prospect. Looks as if the city fathers were out to make a non-stop record for endurance as well as vocalizing.

Imagination Stirred by Problems of Great Spaces

I have no doubt star gazing is a fine occupation, for it leads you within the borders of the unattainable. But map gazing, to which I became addicted early, brings the problems of the great spaces of the earth into stimulating and directive contact with sane curiosity and gives an honest precision to one's imaginative faculty, writes Joseph Conrad in the National Geographic Magazine.

"Brush" Used for Removing Deposits From Ship's Hull

It is reported that an Australian company has introduced in England an ingenious method of cleaning the outside of the hull of a ship. The invention has been in successful operation for a number of years in Australia and has been tried at Southampton and Plymouth.

Flea's Wonderful Eyesight

Fleas have far better sight than men. A German scientist who has been investigating fleas makes this disclosure, saying their sight is so sharp that when a man is sleeping at night under a blanket in a darkened room his body glows to a flea as brightly as a red-hot stove appears to a man in a darkened room.

Earwig Becomes Nuisance

The European earwig, introduced to this country from Europe where it is very common, has multiplied here so rapidly that it has become quite a pest, especially in Washington, Oregon and Rhode Island. The Department of Agriculture is experimenting with two parasites of the earwig with a view of checking the spread of the nuisance to other parts of the country.

Bone Weights Differ

As a result of weighing the various parts of 100 skeletons, Dr. N. W. Ingalls of Western Reserve university declared the bones of the right arm and leg, probably because of more frequent use, are heavier than those of the left. According to Prof. W. G. Waterman of Northwestern university, the same kind of flowers which grew during the last glacial age some 50,000 years ago, are still to be found in a small park near Logan Pass, Mont., where they were left by the ice.

Duck Had Free Ride

When Allen Barker of Nashua, N. H., went to his garage to get his machine, he saw a large white duck perched on the bumper. Barker recalled that late the night before while returning from Lowell, something came resembling a piece of paper, struck the front of the machine about ten miles from Nashua. Believing that the paper would blow off, he continued home. The duck was none the worse for the trip.

Improved Room Light

The delayed action lamp switch is the latest electrical convenience development. After the electric light has been turned off, this switch maintains a dim light for one minute longer, enabling one to leave the room or get into bed without stumbling.

Skirts Constitute Real Peril to Their Wearers

"Safety first" may mean knickerbockers for women. On the other hand, it may merely mean asbestos skirts. Burns kill more women than men. Skirts are the reason. Don't you believe it? Then listen. Why is it that during the first three years of life more boys die of burns than girls, while with the fourth year the scale turns sharply?

Hawaiian Gods Punish Desecrators of Temple

The gods of ancient Hawaii again wreaked their vengeance upon the whites who made merry upon the site of a former heiau, or oldtime temple of worship, according to Hawaiian superstition, when the famous clubhouse of the Order of Elks on the beach at Waikiki was damaged by fire to the extent of $95,000.

Spacious Days

"You should see my lodging! John and I have a bridal suite, the grandest you ever saw, all done in lavender silk, with great bunches of lilacs and lilies of the valley. The bed in my room is as large as Dolly's parlor at Bramfield, Louis Quatorze, so Cynthia tells me. They were spacious days—four people could easily sleep in it without discommoding each other."

Suited the President

President Coolidge's economy in words continues to furnish good copy. Here is the latest: At a recent political pow-wow a newspaper editor sat next to Mr. Coolidge. After carrying on a one-sided conversation for a while he began to grow restless under the President's monosyllables. "Mr. President," he said, "I think it is time I was giving some one else the opportunity to talk with you; I'd better move on."

Lee Statue Gigantic

The height of the Goddess of Liberty is 111 feet; 151.41 feet to the extremity of the torch. The figure of General Lee on Stone Mountain is to be 140 feet from the top of his hat to the bottom of the horse's hoofs. It is said that a man standing on the general's shoulder would need a stepladder to reach his ear. The sculptor says: "The distance from the horse's knees to the top of General Lee's hat is 120 feet. The depth of the relief on the extreme point will be about 20 feet, while the average depth of stone—300-odd feet in length, by about 200 in height—will be about 4 feet."

Missing the Sights

Senator Underwood said in a discussion of spiritualism at a dinner party: "There is one sure thing about the spirits raised by Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle—they talk in a light way about heaven. 'The details that these spirits give us remind me of the little girl who, rummaging in a drawer, exclaimed: 'There! Grandma's gone to Heaven without her spectacles!'"—Los Angeles Times.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, July 9.—Now that it has been definitely settled that there will be three political parties in the contest for the Presidency of the United States, the question agitating the minds of political leaders is "what will LaFollette do?" It is quite natural that some apprehension should be felt as the political situation becomes more chaotic and uncertain. It is not a question as to the ability of the Wisconsin Senator to win by popular vote, but more of a matter of damage that his candidacy would inflict upon the two major parties.

According to well-informed political observers, the third party movement, under the leadership of Senator LaFollette, is based upon the assumption that the farmers and the labor element will combine, especially in the Northwest and Western states. It is doubtful whether labor, as an organization, could lend its support to Mr. LaFollette. Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, is against a third party movement. Friends of LaFollette say that Gompers represents only one branch of union labor. It is difficult to say what the farmers of America will do for the LaFollette ticket. It is apparent that LaFollette intends to set up the machinery for the third party, although he insists upon designating his candidacy as an independent progressive.

While it is true that the average party worker, with his interests centered primarily in local affairs, attaches little significance to the LaFollette campaign, it is significant to note that the national leaders are not blind to the danger of a strong independent ticket. The National Republican, a semi-official organ of the Republican party, is giving considerable attention to the problem. Discussing the question, "Will LaFollette be a liability or an asset?" the former secretary of the Republican National Committee says: "The effect of the LaFollette candidacy should be to assume formidable proportions and not turn out to be a 'dud', might be to keep the doubtful states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota, South Dakota and possibly Nebraska out of the Republican column. In such case it would probably also carry Montana out of the Democratic column. The Democratic politicians, who have been thinking only of agrarian discontent in the Northwest have overlooked the probable effect of the third party movement on the industrial vote which the professional labor politicians have been delivering to the Democratic party for the past ten years. Through this oversight they have been led into the folly of feeding a snake that may fatally bite them before the campaign is over."

It is easy to perceive that the chief concern of the Democrat and Republican leaders is on the number of electoral votes which may possibly fall into the hands of LaFollette, and throw the election into Congress. Situations of this kind have been known in American history, but always deplored as inimical to party interests.

It is conceded that no party can boast of harmony as considerable differences have developed among the followers of the three principal contestants for the Presidential condition. The principal difficulty at present is to smooth over the bitterness developed by factional spirit at the conventions. Leaders are hopeful that they can keep the controversy within the confines of a family quarrel with a view to the success of the party in the November elections. As one distinguished foreign political observer put it, the American election period is a time when "the ardour of faction is redoubled; and all the artificial passions which the imagination can create in the bosom of a happy and peaceful land are agitated and brought to life."

The Borah committee of the Senate charged with the responsibility of conducting an inquiry into campaign expenditures is keeping the treasurers of the political parties busy with reports on their financial condition. The party chieftains are required to give frequent and detailed reports as to the identity of their contributors and the amounts given to the party executive. By this means it is hoped to keep a check on the so-called financial influences which are usually felt during the presidential elections. It is said that this system of publicity on the campaign contributions is playing havoc with party funds, as the more liberal donors do not relish the idea of having their names published and their motives questioned. It is obvious that economy will be felt in the forthcoming campaign.

Telephone Toll Messages Now Free From Federal Tax

THE federal taxes laid on telephone toll messages by the Revenue Act of 1921 have been removed by the Revenue Act of 1924, which was enacted on June 2, and became effective as regards these taxes on July 2. Under the act of 1921, the taxes imposed on telephone messages were as follows:

- On a telephone message for which the charge was more than fourteen cents and not more than fifty cents a tax of..... 5 cents
- On a telephone message for which the charge was more than fifty cents, a tax of..... 10 cents

These taxes were highest in proportion to the charge for service for toll messages over moderate distances, the tax in some cases amounting to one-third of the toll charge.

We have anticipated the increased use of toll facilities that will follow the removal of these taxes and have taken the necessary steps to prepare for it.

What President Coolidge Says About Home Owning

"To own a bit of earth gives a feeling of independence. This feeling is the most powerful incentive to high civic interest and usefulness. Home ownership fosters high traditions of integrity and service. It develops respect for the rights of others. It creates the habit of co-operation for worthy needs. Its enterprises and common sacrifices give the children sturdiness of character. The American home is the source of our material well-being."

These are seven of the best reasons we ever saw for being a home-owner. Can you resist them?

We are sure you don't want to and we are also sure that you DO want to have a home you can call your own and develop according to your ideas.

Let us show you how easily that can be done. No charge whatever and no obligation incurred in having a talk about this with us. Do that now. Summer is slipping by.

Interesting Hearings at Aldermanic Meeting

Notwithstanding the hot weather, there was a large attendance at the meeting of the aldermen Monday evening and considerable interest was taken in the numerous hearings held by that body.

No one appeared on petitions of the Edison and Telephone companies to locate poles on Plymouth road and Endicott street, of L. Berenson to sell gasoline at 360 Watertown street, and of F. J. Mague to change from General residence district to Private residence district, property on Crown and King streets.

Mr. Wm. V. Hayden appeared in favor of the petition of the Mass. Sand and Gravel Co. to sell gasoline on Needham street. It was opposed by John E. Peakes, who saw behind the petition the sinister motive of the Standard Oil Co. to control all the gas filling stations. He believed that this sand pit would last but a few years and that the Standard Co. would then control the situation. He declared there were enough filling stations in that vicinity at present. He admitted he represented other filling stations in opposing this petition.

There was another lively hearing on petition of Edwin Mah Chow for a victualler license in Newton Corner. It was favored by Mr. M. O'Connor and by numerous letters from business men in that section of the city. It was opposed by Mr. James P. Gallagher in behalf of numerous other restaurants, who stated that present facilities were ample; that several lunch rooms had been unable to make a living; that a Chinese restaurant would bring in an undesirable class of patrons and that he believed the board had had enough of filling station (A joke which few noticed).

Ex-alderman Harry B. Ross also opposed the petition in behalf of the Eureka Lunch emphasizing the fact that Chinese restaurants do not employ white help.

Mr. James A. Waters made a strong plea to change the zoning lines on Coyne road so that Alfred G. Kerr might continue in the plumbing business. Mr. Waters said that Mr. Kerr now had a plumbing shop in the cellar of his present home. He wishes to build a new house across the street and a three-car garage, using one section of the garage as a plumbing shop. He hoped the board would allow this to be done as it was the only plumbing shop in Waban.

Mr. E. R. Dewing for the Texas Co. spoke in favor of the petition of that company to have a filling station at 1174 Beacon street. Mr. Dewing said the company had a ten years' lease of the place and had sold gasoline there for the past two years. The building it had used has collapsed and it now wishes to erect a $7000 building.

Mr. R. L. Ryder opposed the present widening of Austin street and Lowell avenue as his clients had recently spent $3000 in remodeling the building, after waiting several months to learn what the city intended to do about it. Alderman O'Connell had the Newtonville Improvement Society recorded as favoring the project.

Two hearings were held for taking land for school purposes, one on Washington street near Myrtle street and the other the Atkinson property, corner of Commonwealth avenue and Washington street. Alderman Pratt said that as certain matters had not been settled the committee wished every member of the board to hear the evidence with open minds. No one appeared in favor of the first lot and it was opposed by the Auburndale Improvement Society and by Mr. L. Worthington in behalf of Mr. Swan Hartwell. The Atkinson lot was favored by Mr. C. L. Favinger for the Waban Improvement Society on account of its being higher land, more accessible from all parts of the proposed district and because it would add to the beauty of the avenue.

Mr. George M. Angier, chairman of the School committee gave a brief history of the efforts to find a site for this school and criticized previous city governments for not taking action on this matter. He favored the Atkinson lot and deprecated the possibility of litigation. He thought it important to take early action or another jam in school accommodations would result. He saw no good reason why the city could not afford to build a new high school and this proposed junior high school and thought the tax payers would readily agree to this program. He urged the board to look to the future, saying that the new Davis school was already full, the Angier school at Waban would reach capacity within two years and the Frank A. Day Junior High school was already overcrowded. Mr. J. Everett Hicks of the school committee endorsed Mr. Angier's position and favored the Atkinson lot as being most desirable for publicity purposes. At this point Alderman George W. Pratt nearly gumbled proceedings by introducing a resolution to the effect that the special joint committee favored a new high school to be erected on the site of Elm road, but as that could not be done, they recommended a site south of Elm road, the closing of Elm road to traffic during school hours and covered connections to the other school buildings. Mr. Pratt said it would take three months to get working plans and bids for this work and urged the board to act immediately on the matter. President Hollis had the resolution postponed until after the hearing had been closed. A representative of Francis H. Blackwell, Mr. George A. Trotter and Mr. J. M. Walsh spoke in opposition, the latter reading a mass of statistics about high school attendance in other cities which hadn't the slightest bearing on the matter under consideration.

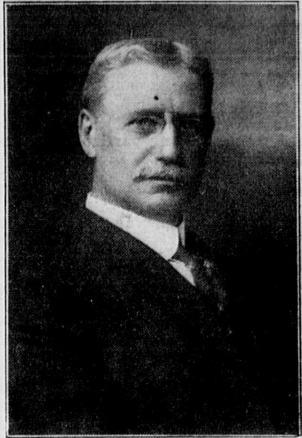

The Registrars of Voters submitted the jury list for the current year and which was placed on file.

The board approved the application of Charles W. Fewkes and others for incorporation as the Odd Fellows Building Association of Newton.

Notice was received that the Texas Co. opposed the granting of any gasoline filling station.

BURGLARS ABOUT

The residence of Mr. Herbert E. Smith on Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, was entered sometime between Friday afternoon and Monday morning and a large amount of clothing, jewelry and other valuables were taken. Entrance was effected thru the rear window of the living room, and as the curtains were raised it is assumed that the break was during the daytime. It is also thought that, as considerable property had been laid aside in piles that the burglars were interrupted during their work. There seems to be no clue.

Mr. Smith's family are at their summer home at Pocasset and Mr. Smith was spending the week end at that place.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mrs. Henrietta S. Spaulding, widow of Edward Spaulding, died on Friday at her home in West Newton, where she had lived since 1905, when the family moved from West Newton, which had been their home for twenty-five years. Mrs. Spaulding suffered a shock more than five years ago and had been more or less of an invalid since that time.

She was a native of Milton; was in her seventy-eighth year, and was the daughter of Octavius T. Rogers and Julia (Trask) Rogers. She attended Mr. William's School, a prominent one in those days, and in the fifties she was married to Mr. Spaulding, who was in the leather business with his father, F. R. Spaulding, under the firm name of F. R. Spaulding & Sons. The firm had Boston headquarters in High street and large tanneries in the Adirondacks. Mr. Spaulding died in 1916.

Mrs. Spaulding was a member of the West Newton Unitarian Church, and during the war was able to give valuable assistance to local agencies. She is survived by a daughter, Dr. Edith R. Spaulding of New York, and a son, Philip R. Spaulding of Weston.

BAND CONCERTS

The band concert given by the Newton Circle Incorporated and the Federation of Women's Clubs on the Stearns School Playground on Friday evening last was a great success. It was estimated there were about three thousand people in attendance. It was supervised by the Playground Department in their usual splendid way. The second concert was held Thursday evening at West Newton. It is hoped that the women of Newton will show their interest in this fine community work.

NEWTON ROTARY CLUB

At the regular weekly luncheon, held Monday at Norumbega Park restaurant, President William T. Halliday gave an interesting account of the recent annual meeting of Rotary International at Toronto, at which he was a delegate from the Club.

TWO PERSONS DROWNED

Man and Woman Dead at Riverside

A sad accident took place last evening at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, when two persons lost their lives by drowning.

The victims were James Connell, aged 43 years, residing at 155 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, and his wife's niece, Miss Margaret McElroy, aged 19 years.

The party of four, Mr. and Mrs. Connell, Miss McElroy and her sister, Julia McElroy, 22 years old, had driven to the place about 7 o'clock in the evening. The life guard at the pool had gone home, but as Connell was a strong swimmer, he went in with the girl. The beginners' beach slopes off into shoal water. At the edge of the beach the water goes off sharply into a hole 12 feet deep, the line between being marked by a pole.

Without noticing where they were going, the two gradually worked their way over to the edge of the shallow water.

Connell then dove for the girl, but she got a death grip on him that he was unable to break, and neither came up. The screams of the women attracted John Donovan, who operates the swimming pool, and the latter telephoned the Metropolitan police station, at Weston bridge.

In the meantime Mrs. Connell pushed a boat into the pool. By this time Patrolman John Shea, metropolitan officer on the grounds, arrived and having no oars, used a canoe paddle in getting the boat to where the two had gone under. Patrolman Edmund Roche, also a metropolitan officer, came to Shea's assistance and they succeeded in getting the girl's body out about 20 minutes after she had disappeared, and Connell's body was rescued a few minutes later.

Murphy and Jenkins worked over Connell with the pulmotor for an hour to no avail, and Sergt. Murphy employed artificial respiration in an attempt to revive the girl.

Mr. Connell was associated with his brother-in-law, Thomas McEnaney, in the ownership and operation of the West Newton Curtain Manufacturing Company on Highland street, West Newton. Miss McElroy had come over to this country from Ireland two years ago and made her home with her uncle.

BOY SCOUTS

Julius Ober of troop 1, Newtonville, has been awarded the Merit Badge for Public Health. Franklin M. Cobleigh of troop 4, Newton Highlands, has been awarded Merit Badges for Pioneering and Cooking. Troop 4 has had the benefit of a special training class in Merit Badge work, conducted by fathers of scouts, some of whom are members of the troop committee. The experiment has been a great success and it is believed that the same plan may be followed by other troops this fall. This troop has also made a good start toward a bugle and drum corps, having had ten lessons by an efficient instructor and developed some real talent. It is hoped that it may be made a Council affair as soon as the work opens this fall, taking scouts from other troops and working up to as good a bugle and drum corps as the old Eighth District had some years ago, before Norumbega Council was organized.

CHAMBER OUTING

Plans for the joint outing of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and Brookline Board of Trade, to be held at Norumbega Park on August 13, are shaping up in a manner that is exceedingly gratifying to the preliminary committees from the two organizations. That the choice of Norumbega Park is going to prove a fortunate one in many ways is already evident. With such organizations as the New England Street Railway Association, Boston Consolidated Gas Company, Dennison Manufacturing Co., and others turning out several thousand people for outings at this popular resort, there is no question as to the ability of the management to handle the combined Brookline and Newton delegations in a way that will leave nothing to be desired. No other outings will be booked for August 13 and the business men and their friends from the two organizations will practically have the entire park and all of its privileges to themselves, excepting the regular patronage. This will be handled in such a way as not to interfere with the program of the day, while the athletic field and various privileges will be assigned exclusively to the Brookline and Newton guests.

DEATH OF MR. MARDEN

Mr. Wendell P. Marden, who died suddenly yesterday at his home on Summer street, Newton Centre, had been a resident here for the past 30 years, and was well known and respected by everyone.

For some years he was employed in the office of the state treasurer, but has been retired for some time. He was born in Mount Vernon, N. H., and was 73 years of age. He was a member and the assistant treasurer of the First Church.

Mr. Marden is survived by a son, Edward, and a daughter, Miss Mary Marden, both of Newton Centre. Funeral services will be held in Blossom Hill Cemetery Chapel at Concord, N. H., tomorrow afternoon.

POLICE COURT

Harry Waldron of North Beacon street, Watertown, was sentenced to one month in the House of Correction yesterday morning in the Newton District Court by Judge William F. Bacon, on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

THE NEWTON GRAPHIC
Entered at the Post-office at Boston
Mass., as second-class matter

EDITORIAL

In the contest at the coming primary for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, the GRAPHIC will support the candidacy of Congressman Fred W. Dallinger of Cambridge. We do so because we believe he better represents the sober-minded, right-thinking people of this Commonwealth than either of the other contestants. Mr. Dallinger appeals with particular emphasis to the home loving, God fearing men and women of Massachusetts as his entire political career has ever been devoted to their interests and his personal character is above reproach. Mr. Dallinger in the United States Senate will be consistent in the upholding of safe, sane and sensible legislation as he has been when a member of Congress, of the Massachusetts Senate and of the Massachusetts House of Representatives. The common people can absolutely rely on Dallinger.

We cannot understand the mental processes by which some of the judges in our district courts thruout the Commonwealth sentence to jail automobile drivers convicted of operating while under the influence of liquor on one day, and the very next day impose a mere fine for the same offence. A drunken man operating an automobile is a menace to society. His next victim may be a member of your family or of mine and he should be given a sentence, if convicted, which will teach him a never-to-be-forgotten lesson. Mere fines and suspended sentences make our courts the laughing stock of men of this class.

While we are all enjoying these long evenings due to the daylight saving law, let us not forget that we have the opportunity next November to register our approval of the present arrangement.

THE BRIDGE BUILDER

per, Past Grand Exalted Ruler of the Order of Elks, and past president of the Lynchburg, Va., Rotary Club for the following verses with which Mr. Harper illustrates his addresses on Rotary:

The Bridge Builder

An old man, going a lone highway
Came at the evening, cold and grey.
To a chasm, deep and vast and wide
Through which was flowing a sullen tide.
The old man crossed in the twilight
dim,
The sullen stream had no fears for him
But he turned, when safe on the other side
And built a bridge to span the tide.
"Old man" said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting strength in building
here;
Your journey will end with the ending
day
You never again will pass this way.
You've crossed the chasm, deep and wide
Why build you the bridge at even-
tide?
The builder lifted his old gray head:
"Good friend, in the path I have come"
he said
"There followeth after me today
A youth, whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been naught to me
To that fair haired youth may a pitfall be,
He too, must cross in the twilight
dim.
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by
Leverett D. G. Bentley

Newton has been rediscovered! It may not be of historical significance, but it is true, and to our mind a matter of much interest. The other day we accepted an invitation to visit a motion picture studio at Newton Highlands. Located off Carver road, it is not on the beaten path of travel, but it is by no means inaccessible. We had known for several years that there had been a motion picture studio located there, but not until this year did we learn that it is operated on a much larger scale than ever before. Directors, recently arrived from California, have declared that Newton offers an ideal spot for "shooting." They seem astounded that other "movie" folks have not made more of the surroundings offered. "We have found everything, pretty near, and many things we couldn't get in California," they said. At the time of our visit they were making a picture which will be released September first. Among the players were several of the best known to patrons of screen productions. Two of them we had heard of and seen many times on the legitimate stage—Miss Effie Shannon and Mr. Burr McIntosh. In fact we saw Mr. McIntosh in a photoplay in Newton the night before. To see him in the flesh was something of a thrill. Miss Shannon was associated with the Herbert Kealey. Years ago they toured the country with a famous melodrama called "The Charity Ball." The title will be recognized by patrons of the stage a generation ago. But getting back to "movies" in Newton. The studio is ample and when we made our visit was "set up" with several attractive interiors. The director told us that Newton is full of possibilities. "Why," he said, "when we want to shoot a village street we go to Upper Falls. There we find exactly what we want. In California they would have to build all that, but in Upper Falls we get something better than could be designed by the most expert designers of scenery. Then the director called attention to a woodland setting. He showed us a photograph—known to the "movie" profession as a "still"—that disclosed two youngsters in the forest. "Made right outside our own door," he said, with enthusiasm. And so on, the place—our own home town—seemed to yield no end of first class "exterior." It made us think more of the sound common sense of motion picture producers who, apparently, have their slogan, "Do your shooting in Newton."

"Get in There"

O, it's nice to go 'way for the Summer, And it's great to go off on a trip, For there's always a thrill in the country, And delight in a salt-water dip; There is pleasure in gathering sun-burn, There is joy in those old-fashioned "cats"; And we think of the cool nights of sleeping; When we need all the blankets and sheets; On the hills or the pebbly beaches, 'Neath the shade of the sheltering pines; It matters not where our vacation, In gratitude we exclaim, "Fine!" Everything we'll agree, is alluring, And still we're inclined to say, "No," When it comes to an actual starting, We about decide that we'll not go; The difficult part of our journey, The point where our spirits all lag, Is in getting our few things together And packing our traveling bag.

Some people have an idea that if they go away for the Summer, or a part thereof, they may be shirking a responsibility which demands their attention at home. There are many who have no such worry, and who wouldn't care if they had side-steps a life-time of responsibilities. It's human nature, and this glorious world is made glorious only by the fact that it is peopled by many different kinds of human beings. We have heard people who fretted over small things, but the prize-winner we encountered the other day. It happened that we were waiting for the arrival of a through train from a distant point. We took our stand in the North Station waiting room and there overheard a woman addressing her daughter. Their conversation was something like this:

"I locked the front door after me, didn't I," queried the older woman.
"Yes, mother, I think so."
"Did you see me close it?"
"No, mother, I can't say that I did."
"Well, how do you know I locked it?"
"O, you must have; you've got the key, haven't you?"
"I had the key anyway."
"Don't worry, mother, Mrs. Bings will notice it and she'll tend to it."
"Well, I hope so." Mother sighs and there is silence for a moment.
"I can't remember whether I put those milk bottles out." Again it is mother speaking.
"Never mind; they'll be there when you get back."

"I know, but I meant to have them out of the house. You know how I hate to have such things sitting 'round." No answer from daughter.
Another pause and then mother almost jumps out of her seat. "O, dear," she exclaims, "I can't remember whether Katie emptied the pan under the ice chest."
"Who cares, anyway," says her daughter with no sign of interest.
"Well, it should have been emptied, and you know it."
At this point we shifted our loafing place and strolled out into the trainshed. We were beginning to worry ourselves.

We have heard of a gracious lady—a resident of Ward 7—who, although a student of botany, is convinced that there may be several more things on the subject that she must learn. It is well known that one may acquire knowledge quite unexpectedly. The circumstances of this lady's case bears out the truth of that assertion. She found out something that she had never known before, and under conditions that make a good story with the joke on her. She is sportsman enough to repeat it herself, too. It appears that her skill in raising flowers and growing plants is the source of her friends' admiration, if not envy. Along with her fondness for flowers this lady has an interest in birds, and encourages their visits to the lawn in front of her house and the garden, too. Although holding no deep feeling against cats she has chosen to give her attention to birds, and consequently does not attempt to entertain both birds and cats, since such a thing is generally agreed to be an impossible achievement. It was a source of wonder to her to find some one there belonging to the neighbors should find her garden so great an attraction. It seemed to her that they selected her place to frisk and sport about where other lawns and gardens held no appeal for them. The birds naturally stayed away and left everything to the cats. The lady confided in friends the conditions that so perplexed her and they, too, were at loss to understand the situation. Finally, one of her neighbors came over to see the garden and to discuss the presence of so many cats and the absence of the birds. This neighbor was strolling through a path when suddenly she burst into a hearty laugh. The lady was more amazed than ever. "What-ever is the joke?" she asked. To this the other replied, "I've found out why you are visited by so many cats." "Have you, indeed," said the lady, "then tell me why." "Because," said her friend, "you are here growing a most luxuriant bed of catnip that even the best behaved cat in the world could not resist." We wish we could tell our readers whether the catnip bed was uprooted, but we didn't ask any questions.

The asking of questions is said to be more of a habit in this part of the country than any other. Just why every free born American should not cross-examine another of his race, or anybody else he may happen to meet, is not stated. The custom is spoken of with a tinge of scorn as if it were not a part of the code of good manners. We rather protest against the operations of the human interrogation point who is never satisfied unless putting somebody through their paces. But there are times when we feel compelled to ask questions. The last occasion was not long ago when we, together with thousands of fellow passengers on the Boston Elevated, had our curiosity aroused by the white paint on the fenders or bumpers of Boston Elevated trolley cars. One has to be careful not to offend a street car conductor, for sometimes they resent the simplest of queries. The passenger who makes inquiry concerning something which is not his business almost takes his life in his hands. Our desire to learn about the white markings on the front of electric cars made us indifferent to consequences, and we put the question bluntly to an unformed official. It appears that the road management is of the opinion that the white markings show up in the dark and if at night the trolley should come off, leaving the car without lights of any kind, the white paint would create a glow visible for some distance. In other words it is a part of the company's "safety first" campaign and in our opinion an excellent idea.

Dr. Elliot deplors the decline of his home city, Cambridge, as a place of residence. Not only would Dr. Elliot find a warm welcome if he came to Newton but many attractive features which Cambridge has not.

IF IN DOUBT—SAVE

The wisest men cannot foretell the future—they can only guess.

This much is sure—if prices continue upward, your savings will be handy—if they go down, your money will buy more—if wages go up, you can save more—if they go down, your money will help—and if you lose your position, your savings will carry you until you get a better one.

In case of doubt, save.

THE FOUR IMPORTANT STEPS IN BECOMING A HOME OWNER

- The first is deciding that you will build a home.
- The second is selecting the location and buying the lot.
- The third is deciding on the plans for the home.
- The fourth is actual construction.

—And we might add a fifth which is perhaps the most interesting and appealing—MOVING IN.

The first is perhaps the most important—DECIDING TO BUILD. That you must do for yourself. The second is an interesting process and it must be given a lot of thought and investigation to make sure you get the right place for your home.

But the third step—SELECTING PLANS—is for many people the most difficult and that is where we cordially invite you to let us help you.

That part of home-building is our business in connection with furnishing the materials. We have all the machinery necessary for helping you plan a home that will please you in every detail. We suggest that as soon as you have decided you will build, and before you buy your lot, you call on us and go over the plan question. It may make a difference in the lot you finally buy.

We make no charge for our plan service—it goes free with the material. Use it.

ANNUAL SUMMER OUTING

Newton Corner Business Men's Association Enjoy Themselves at Shore Gardens, Nantasket

The annual summer outing of the Newton Corner Business Men's Association took place on Wednesday afternoon at the Shore Gardens, Nantasket.

A squadron of automobiles left Newton about one o'clock and dinner was served at the Gardens about 3 o'clock, 130 members and friends being present.

An excellent menu was enjoyed, after which the official program began with a boxing exhibition between Kid Phippen of West Newton and Spike Hennessy of Waltham.

Mr. Joseph Antonelli then entertained the crowd with three tenor solos which were received with the great applause they deserved, as Mr. Antonelli has a beautiful voice.

The prize offered by Mr. Burns to the member of the committee selling the most tickets was awarded to President Harold Moore, with a score of 33.

Mr. G. Clement Colburn offered a prize of $15 in insurance to the ticket holder, whose name was drawn from a hat; the prize being won by Mr. R. C. Squires.

The rest of the program consisted of athletic sports held on the grounds of the hotel, for which prizes were offered by members of the Association.

Edgar S. Burkhardt won first place and Stephen Morrell, second place in the fat man's race, although some of the contestants would have found it difficult to qualify as fat men. The time was not announced, as it was feared it might make the Olympic winners altogether envious.

John Hines was the winner and Edward Driscoll the runner-up in the fifty yard dash, and Walter Thompson was first and Driscoll second in the dash for a longer distance.

The nail driving contest attracted a great deal of deserved attention, the team composed of Johnson, Conners, Stark, Mason and Driscoll winning over all competitors.

An individual nail driving contest between Henry Hawkins and John T. Burns was easily won by Hawkins, who was a professional, while Burns was an amateur.

Hary Harcourt and John Kyles won the prizes for pitching horseshoes, while Jack Marchant and Francis McDonald won in the potato race.

The success of the outing was due to hard work of a committee composed of Fred Avantaggio, Wilfred Chagnon, Thomas F. Delaney, Frank Fell, Clifford Hunting, Walter Moore, Henry K. Rollins and Willard L. Sampson.

PLANS FOR OUTING

An automobile parade, with a band and elaborate decorative features, will be the opening feature of the big joint outing of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and Brookline Board of Trade, to be held at Norumbega Park on Wednesday afternoon and evening, August 13. The program at the park will be as varied as is permitted by the unusual variety of attractions and amusements at that popular resort, promising something new and interesting every minute from the arrival at the park until the conclusion of the theatre program late in the evening.

A baseball game will be the big feature of the athletic and sports program, between teams representing Newton and Brookline, supplemented with a tug-of-war and other competitive events. The dinner at the Norumbega Park restaurant will perhaps prove the most popular event of the day, and nothing will be omitted to make this one of the best spreads served at any outing previously enjoyed by either organization. The park will be thrown wide open for the Newton and Brookline delegations, with practically all concessions and amusements made available to members of the party. Following a short speaking and entertainment program at the close of the dinner, the gathering will adjourn to the Norumbega Theatre and occupy a large block of reserved seats, taking in the show as the final feature of the long and varied program.

Arrangements for the outing were practically completed at meetings held last week, a joint meeting of the general committee from Brookline and this city being followed by meetings of the Mercantile Division Committee of the Newton Chamber and the Executive Committee of the Brookline Board of Trade. The plans of the general committee were enthusiastically endorsed by the governing bodies of the respective organizations and arrangements made to develop all possible enthusiasm and interest in the big event. Plans were perfected for the distribution of tickets, the enrollment of cars for the auto parade, and all possible provisions made for developing a program that will satisfy the most expectant member of the respective delegations.

The Newton Constabulary Band has been engaged for the occasion and will provide music for the automobile parade, as well as during the subsequent program at Norumbega Park. Much effort will be put forth to make the parade as effective as possible, and it is expected that a hundred or more automobiles will be in line. All cars will be decorated and huge placards are being painted for the "band wagon" and other vehicles, to let everyone know what is going on.

The parade route will be through several of the Newtons and Brookline, and is being planned to permit arrival at the park in ample season for the beginning of the athletic program by three o'clock. Newton cars will be assembled in the several villages of the city and under the direction of local committees will plan for arrival simultaneously at some central point, where the parade line will be formed and headed by the band will go to Brookline where the cars bearing the delegation from that town will fall in. The main route, from Brookline to Norumbega, will be through the business sections of that town, and several of the villages of this city.

Through special arrangements with the park management, all outing ticket-holders will be offered a varied and continuous program of amusements without extra charge. Outing

NEWTON BOAT CLUB

The Mid-summer Dance on Saturday evening, July 26th, promises to be one of the most attractive social times of the season. There shall be many innovations which will be pleasing, as well as surprising to all. The orchestra will consist of an excellent team, and splendid syncopated music will be furnished.

tickets will not only provide for the parking of cars and admission to the park, but will also offer rides on the river launches, the caterpillar, the sea planes, and various other amusement devices, coupons for one ride on each device being attached to each ticket. These are interchangeable with other amusement devices, enabling each to try everything once or to confine their attention to the two or three amusements which appeal to them the most. Not only is the outing to be the "biggest ever" but the ticket is the biggest yet put out for such an event, including coupons for nine different attractions. These include the dinner and reserved seats at the theatre, the whole offering more than five dollars worth of amusement, in addition to the baseball game and sports, for the special price of Four Dollars.

CAMP FRANK A. DAY

New Boat House and Library Dedicated with Interesting Ceremonies at East Brookfield

The new boat house and library at Camp Frank A. Day was dedicated on July 19th, before a large number of parents and friends. Mayor E. O. Childs made the address. He spoke first about the importance of reading good books which may become our best friends, second about the Newton Rotary Club and their motto, "Service Above Self," third about the Woman's Auxiliary, which holds the same relation to the Newton Y. M. C. A. that a mother does to her boy, and fourth about Frank A. Day, a good man and generous friend of boys, after whom the camp was named.

H. W. Bascom, the General Secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., read letters from James E. Clark, Henry B. Day, H. D. Woods, Mrs. B. I. Leeds and Governor Calkins, expressing regrets at being unable to attend the exercises, but wishing the camp all success. He introduced Mr. C. D. Kepner, chairman of the Camp Committee, as one who had done much for the camp since its beginning in 1916. Mr. Kepner gave a brief history of the camp, telling about its growth and the equipment which had been added from year to year.

In 1916 the leaders were Wm. Macpherson and Carl D. Kepner, Jr. In 1917 the camp director was W. H. Sears. In 1918 Mr. Webster and L. Chase Kepner were the leaders. In 1919 and 1920 Mr. Anson T. Leary was camp director. Associated with him in 1919 was F. Edgar Doubleday. In 1921, 22, and 23, Mr. Charles C. Noble was camp director, and in 1924 Mr. Clyde G. Hess. During these years the camp has grown so that now it is well equipped and has accommodations for 125 leaders and boys.

Rev. Charles D. Kepner, Jr., of New York City made the dedicatory prayer.

In behalf of the Camp Committee the chairman presented to Mr. Clyde G. Hess, camp director, the beautiful new building, fully furnished and ready for use. Mr. Hess thanked all those who had made this gift possible and assured those present that the building would be much appreciated by present and future campers.

A program of water sports was then put on by the campers, under the direction of Mr. Greenwood, the swimming instructor.

In the evening forty boys, under the direction of Mr. MacCullough, presented an Indian Pageant, which was enjoyed by a large audience.

Later in the evening a play was given in the pavilion. Dr. Streeter, Homer Ginn and Milton Edgar took the principal parts. Music by an orchestra led by "Nat" Greenwood completed the evening's program. Among those attending the dedicatory exercises were Mayor and Mrs. E. O. Childs, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Barber, Dr. and Mrs. Harold G. Giddings, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Kepner, Miss Emma Page, Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Wrye, Mr. G. Fred Harwood, Mr. Safford, Mr. and Mrs. G. Clement Colburn, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Bascom, Mr. W. H. Sears, Dr. H. C. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. George Deffen, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kendrick, Mrs. Warren K. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Chadwick, Mrs. C. F. Schipper, Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Hakes, Mrs. Clara H. LaCrosse, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harwell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Zoller, Mrs. L. B. Kent, Mrs. L. A. White, Mrs. M. H. Martinson, Mr. George Wright, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Moore, Mr. F. C. W. Bray, Mr. Harold L. Spooner, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Earle, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Harmon, Mr. and Mrs. Pevear, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Morton.

MAN HURT

Edward Kelley of Jasset street, Norumbega, was the victim of a peculiar accident on Monday Kelley, who was employed by the Basley Lumber Co. on Crafts street, Newtonville, was engaged in unloading lumber, allowing the boards to pass across his body as they came from the wagon. In doing this, a large splinter on one of the boards pierced his abdomen, causing a serious wound which later at the Hospital required six stitches to be made. His condition is not considered serious.

NEWTON Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The boys leaving for Camp Frank A. Day on Friday, July 25th, are F. Jones, M. Tobey, W. Newcomb, L. Newcomb, E. LaCrosse, Wm. Bell, R. Bell, W. Stokell, R. Richner, N. Pearson, R. W. Parker, E. Rogers, A. Ziegler, R. Morton, D. Bishoff and Edgar Center.

STRONGLY ENDORSED

Over their signatures, which are on file with the city clerk, and may be witnessed by any citizen, eighteen of the leading business men at Newton Corner highly endorse granting the license for the American Chinese Restaurant, which it is desired to locate at 277 Washington street. This conclusion has been arrived at after a rigid investigation of the character of the parties applying for the license, who employ only Chinese male help, one of the strongest recommendations in its favor. —Advertisement.

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

In August many of The Newton Archers will go to the two tournaments that are the events of the year for archers. The Eastern Archery Association tournament is August 14, 15, 16, on the grounds of the West Chester Biltmore Club, Long Island Sound, N. Y. The following week the National Archery Association tournament takes place at Deerfield, Mass. Very attractive programmes have been planned for both events. Two of our local association of The Newton Archers, who will attend both tournaments are, the President, Louis C. Smith of Newton Centre, and the Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Ruth Brewer of Newton Centre.

Archery on the range at Newton Centre still brings out goodly number on Saturday afternoons. We find that people of all ages and of either sex enjoy the sport. Summer is a good time to take it up. If any think it too easy or a "baby" game let them try pulling a seventy-pound bow such as a sixteen-year-old member used the other Saturday.

BAND CONCERT

There will be a band concert next Sunday afternoon at the Riverside Recreation Grounds by McKenzie's band of Cambridge.

DOUBLE FUNERAL

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in St. Bernard's Church at West Newton for James Connell and his niece, Margaret McElroy, who were drowned at Riverside. Mr. Connell was forty-two years old and the girl was nineteen. They met death while he was teaching her to swim.

The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. William J. Dwyer, who was assisted by Rev. Robert Mantle of the clergy of the Church of Our Lady at Newton and Rev. William T. A. O'Brien, one of the curates of St. Bernard's parish. The bodies were buried in one grave in Calvary Cemetery at Waltham.

ROTARY CLUB

The members of the Club had an unusual entertainment at the regular weekly luncheon at Norumbega Park restaurant on Monday. The guest speaker was Mr. Geoffrey L. Wayland, who gave a talk on "Sidelights on Motion Pictures."

After describing the growth of the motion picture business, Mr. Wayland drafted members of the club to take acting parts, and staged a miniature motion picture set for the club.

The drafftees took kindly to the affair, and the members obtained a fairly good idea of how motion pictures are prepared.

The Necessity of Saving

ALMOST anyone with small effort, by using this co-operative bank may, by middle age, own his home, or be in a position to go into business for himself. The small monthly installments are hardly noticed, but they aggregate enough to make one independent. Forty dollars deposited monthly with interest additions will accumulate in about twelve years to $8000.

One of our legal friends, for whom we have the highest respect, has taken us to task for an apparent inconsistency in our advocacy for respect for the courts, and what he pleases to call our "nagging" on the matter of adequate punishment for drunken operators of automobiles. Our friend states that the district judges have "among their problems, the likelihood of appeal, the crowded and undemanding condition of the district attorney's office with resultant delay, the difficulty of holding witnesses who will retain clear recollection of detail and the tendency of our juries to bring in a verdict of not guilty."

We heartily commend the plan of Mayor Sweeney of Attleboro, who has asked 100 reputable citizens to notify his office by post card, of any violations which they may note of the motor vehicle laws. The names of these citizens are known only to the mayor, and it is thought that the possibility of having the motor vehicle laws violated noted by these unknown citizens will act as a general deterrent throughout the city.

The plan ought to be tried in Newton, especially with the new traffic rules going into effect. We have noted several transparent violations of the rule prohibiting parking on Elmwood street, where cars have been left standing within 6 feet of a sign prohibiting parking at that point. A few reports of these violations might cause the owners to realize that these signs are meant for THEM.

One of the questions to be voted upon at the coming election in November is the approval or disapproval of the act of the Legislature in making an assessment of two cents a gallon on all gasoline sold within the Commonwealth, the proceeds to be used for additional and better road building by the State Department of Public Works. We have every confidence that this bill will be approved. The motorists want it because it will mean a more rapid increase in the total mileage of good roads in the state, and non-motorists will be glad to take this opportunity to levy a tax on some one other than themselves. Newton has rarely been more beautiful than it has been this summer. The shrubs and flowers have never been more brilliant and more profuse with blossoms. Last week it was rambling roses throughout the city, this week, a handsome display of holly hocks. It sometimes pays to stay at home in summer to enjoy the beauty of the Garden City.

These are the days when the candidates for office are busy getting the signatures of their friends in order to qualify for a place at the coming primary.

CHILDREN'S OUTING Newton Lodge of Elks, under the direction of a committee of which Alderman John H. Gordon is chairman, is making arrangements to entertain all the children in the city between the ages of 6 and 15 years at Norumbega Park next Wednesday. Besides the usual attractions at the Park, the committee will serve the children with milk, crackers and ice cream. Children who desire to accept the invitation were registered yesterday afternoon, and again this afternoon at the Newton Lower Falls Library, Upper Falls Library, the Hyde school, Newton Highlands, the fire house, Newton Centre, the police station, Newton, Stearns school, the Newton Welfare Bureau, Newtonville, the Neighborhood House, West Newton, and the fire house, Auburndale.

Newton Centre Miss Ogden of Yonkers, N. Y., is the guest of Mrs. Charles Nevin of Tyler terrace. Lieut.-Colonel Fred H. Thompson of this place has been assigned to the 302nd infantry. Miss Oriana Bailey of Lake avenue is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. Linder Naylor in Berkeley, Cal. There was a large attendance last evening at the open air band concert on the Newton Centre Playground.

There was a still alarm last Saturday evening for a blaze caused by burning grease on a gas stove in the house of R. G. Graham on Old Colony road, Chestnut Hill. Rev. Fr. James A. Haney was on the steamer Priscilla Monday night, and assisted in the work of rescuing the passengers from the wrecked steamer Boston. Mr. Charles A. Morss of Chestnut Hill has been elected chairman of the commission to consider the advisability of changing the laws relative to taxation of banking institutions.

BURGLARS STILL HERE The offices of the Basley Lumber Co. on Crafts street, Newtonville, and that of the White-Cary Lumber Co. on Rowe street, Auburndale, were broken into Tuesday night, the windows being jimmied at both places. The locks of the safes in both places were broken with a sledge hammer. At the Basley office, $22 was taken, and the thieves got $130 at Auburndale. The office of the C. F. Eddy Co. on Auburn street, Auburndale, was also broken into last week Thursday, and $12 taken.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER Washington, July 23— Military boards of strategy had no more difficult problems to solve in localizing full strength of the Army than those which confront the national committees in charge of Presidential campaigns. The latter have real problems on hand in overcoming the complacency of the average party member and the alarming indifference of the American citizen as to the exercise of the electoral franchise. In the headquarters of the various political parties here, in New York, and Chicago, the organization plans for the campaign will embrace the all-important question of bringing out a large vote in November. The leaders are thoroughly cognizant of the importance of the stay-at-home vote, which, it is said, is sufficient to change the result of the Presidential election in a vast majority of the states.

Several representative leaders were interviewed by the writer this week concerning their plans for the campaign. It is natural that these political chieftains should stress the characteristics, influence and qualifications of those heading the various national tickets, but underneath this formal attitude, a note of concern as to the actual numerical strength of their parties is easily discernible. As one recognized leader described the situation: "The critical attitude of the average voter that his or her vote does not count must be changed, if party systems are to survive. There is another group which is satisfied that their party will win because of surface indications. It may be likened to the complacency of newly married couples who are gradually awakened to the truth of things. Less lip service and more actual voting is something that all parties need today."

There are a number of political leaders who have expressed some concern over the woman vote. It is true that in the Presidential elections of 1920 the women voted in impressive numbers in all states. But the politicians are now fearful that the woman voter generally is losing her interest in the electoral franchise, at least insofar as a national ticket is involved. Several prominent campaigners even go so far as to say that many women voted four years ago for the first time, and that the novelty having worn off, they will not go to the polls this year.

It is pointed out, however, that there are, of course, exceptions to this statement in regions where local issues are bitterly contested, and the women voters are persuaded to turn out in large numbers. Those who actively supported legislation which conferred suffrage on women insist that it is desirable from many points of view that women should participate more freely in public affairs.

The national leaders of political parties feel that it is time that the theory of the chronic fault-finder that his particular vote bears little or no significance should be changed. These chieftains believe that the best results may be obtained from intensive educational work in various precincts. The opinion has been expressed that there are too many fault-finders within the various parties who complain of the shortcomings of their leaders or representatives in legislative assemblies without doing anything at election time to bring about desirable changes. In other words, active party workers resent the claim of grumblers to party labels when their actions indicate that they are anything but helpful to party welfare.

It is a sad commentary upon the American citizen generally to realize that not 50 per cent of those qualified are voting. Simon Michelet, a Washington lawyer, has made an intimate study of the absentee voter problem. Figures compiled by Mr. Michelet show that for every 100 votes cast for President in 1920, there were 96 stay-at-homes, the total absentee vote reaching the vast aggregate of 25,705,063. This stay-at-home total is arrived at after deducting 8,467,625 disqualified citizens of 21 years and over, including about 6,200,000 alien or unnaturalized foreign born and over 2,000,000 illiterate citizens, white and colored, disfranchised under the election laws of 12 Southern States. The stay-at-home vote, the study disclosed, is not characteristic of any particular section, but is more or less common to every section, North or South, East or West.

There are many potential voters who claim that the right to vote in secret is being denied by the requirements which are very discouraging to a person who really desires to exercise the voting privilege. Some complain about the registration system, but this is a necessary procedure to make certain the right of citizens to vote. The registration lists of qualified voters are doubly necessary in establishing the right of the citizen to cast a ballot and to prevent duplication and fraud. History has many instances of fraudulent registration, but such practices have been practically wiped out by stringent election laws. Cases have been recorded where frauds have been perpetrated upon the public by the balloting system, but the present secret ballot is a development of electoral systems which allows the voter to indicate his or her choice of candidate without being intimidated. It is claimed that at least 75 per cent of the value of the absentee voting laws is nullified by stringent registration requirements. Assuming that here are 25,000,000 stay-at-home votes, it is estimated that 19 per cent of these potential voters, if colonized in doubtful states, would decide any close national contest. The state committee of the major parties are giving due consideration to this condition in an effort to make them active electors. One of the principal restrictions of this missionary work is the numerous "corrupt practices" laws which limit the expenditures of the political parties. The recent movement calling for a curb on campaign contributions is also another important factor, because money is necessary to defray public workers in locating the absentee or stay-at-home votes in various communities. The parties will depend in a large measure upon the voluntary contributions of time and service by ardent partisans to bring about voting efficiency in November. The vote for all presidential candidates in 1920 aggregated 26,713,832. The question is "what will the roll call show in November, 1924?"

AUTOBIOGRAPHIES OF FOREIGN-BORN AMERICANS

Involuntarily we yield admiration to sturdy pluck and the forward-looking courage that counts the cost, and yet struggles or in the face of discouragements to successful achievement.

Nowhere are these qualities more in evidence than in the lives of hundreds and thousands who come to our shores, seeking the opportunity that was denied them in their home land; and their success is the more worthy of commendation, when one remembers that many were handicapped at the start by ignorance of the language and customs of their new home, as well as by other obstacles.

The following books, which may be found in the Newton Free Library, are outstanding types of stories that might be duplicated indefinitely among hundreds of others among our loyal adopted citizens, very likely among your own neighbors and fellow-townsmen.

"YOU CAN RELY ON LEWANDOS"

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Written by
Leverett D. G. Bentley

Having taken advantage of a friend's hospitality, and enjoyed a few days' outing on the sand dunes of Cape Cod, we undertook to tell a good friend of the pleasures of that wonderful section of the country. It is, by the way, our favorite recreation ground, and we are proud to think that our opinion is shared by many Newton people. It was a surprise and considerable of a shock to find a man who disputed our theory, and consequently that held by many of our fellow citizens. He said, "Don't talk country to me. I want the movie theatre, if one eating place doesn't suit me, then I can go to another. If I want to romp, I make for Central Park. I have a hotel room with all the comforts of home. I don't have to sleep outdoors, and my bed is always comfortable." These and other things our friend enumerated, in the hope of convincing us that he had the true idea of a vacation. We could not agree with him and said so. "Well, what have you got to show?" he demanded. We tried to tell him that the salt water bathing was the best ever, that the food we ate so ravenously seemed the most-relished we had ever tasted, and that we felt one hundred per cent better physically. "Yes," he said, "that's all very well, but you told me yourself you were sunburned so badly you couldn't sleep." To that we retorted, "We don't mind it, however, and will soon get over it." He snorted and replied, "Suit yourself, old man, but I'd rather have the blistering sidewalks of New York than that blistered back of yours." And our answer was, "Well, we wouldn't, and that's that."

might happen to us if we sought to say something facetious concerning the new traffic regulations. When we read the stern rebuke administered to a fellow newspaper man for writing a true story of a bewildered truck-driver, we decided it would be best for us to "lay off." We wanted to tell what a good friend handed us the other morning. We entered his store in Nonantum Square, and were greeted with, "It's always interesting around Nonantum Square, isn't it?" To this we replied, "Always, but what had you in mind?" "Well," replied our friend, "every day there's a new sign planted somewhere in the square, which keeps the excitement going." We felt at the time that our friend was a bit daring in making any comment on the traffic regulations, and hope now that the framers and adherents to the record as being accused of disloyalty. We had thought of expressing sympathy for owners of motor vehicles who blunder into the square and thoughtlessly violate our amended ordinances, only to be "called down" by a patrolman. Our sense of the seriousness of the situation causes us to withhold any such reference. There are some things that puzzle us, but we are going to be discreet, and not invite an editorial wallop from our contemporary. Instead of indulging ourselves, we prefer to be one of that solemn group who so firmly believe in signs.

What with filling stations and school houses constantly on their minds, would it not be a member of the Board of Aldermen? It strikes us that it would not be a bad idea to award our city fathers medals of honor for their nearly all other cities provide compensation for aldermen. We believe that the lowest amount offered is somewhere around $500 a year. In Newton an alderman receives no pay. He is lucky if he doesn't get letters telling him that he isn't competent to have a part in the city's management. If someone who has voted for him is displeased by a major vote of the board, the poor alderman of that section of the city is blamed for it, although he may have voted the other way. Public service has its pleasures and its penalties. To have someone call you on the telephone and start a tirade against all occupants of City Hall, is not an uncommon experience for an alderman. It may be justly said he has brought his troubles on himself, but that is hardly fair. We have ourselves been conscious of the fact that we have made uncomplimentary references at times to those who guide the city's destinies, but we never meant to be bitter or severe. We like to exercise the great American privilege of calling-down public servants when we think they need it, but only to point out what to us seems unjust or unnecessary. It is with all earnestness that we now cheerfully pay our respects to the Newton Board of Aldermen for their efforts in behalf of their fellow citizens. They are faithful and stick to the job, as is proved by their sticking on hot Summer nights, some of which are very sticky. We really think that Newton people do appreciate what the city fathers seek to do in their behalf, and if they don't they should ask themselves, "How would it spoil all my Summer plans and spend my time making Newton 'no mean city'?"

Mr. Chow seeks to open an eating-place in Newton. Former doughboys will recognize the name.

At last accounts the baseball team of Newton firemen was going strong for the first year of its organization—six out of nine games to their credit. A healthy average, and one with which no true fan will find fault.

Newton's residential districts would be entirely deserted these days but for the occasional visit of the merry housebreaker.

THE BONUS

Every Monday evening from 7-9 o'clock until further notice, Newton Post 48, American Legion, will have a corps of clerks at the Red Cross Headquarters, 12 Austin street, Newtonville, who will assist Veterans of the World War and dependents desiring help with their Bonus applications.

Veterans having less than 60 days' service and those enlisting since November 11, 1918, do not come within the provisions of this Adjusted Compensation Act.

All others may avail themselves of this service, and are urged to bring discharges to office so that applications may be completed accurately, as well as inspected.

Dependents applying for the benefits under the provisions of this Act must furnish properly authenticated death certificates of Veteran, except where men died in service.

Blanks may be secured during the day or on Monday evening at the office of the Red Cross.

Signed, THOMAS A. FRANEY,
Commander, Newton Post 48.

C. M. T. C.

The Commanding General, First Corps Area (New England) has just received authority from the War Department to accept an additional 200 candidates for the 1924 Citizens' Military Training Camps. This is the third increase allotted to New England and is evidently due to the fine spirit in which the young men are enrolling.

General Brewster wishes to urge all young men who desire to attend the 1924 C. M. T. C. to mail their applications to the Officer in Charge, C. M. T. C. Affairs, Army Base, Boston, Mass., promptly. Also to commence their vaccination against small-pox and inoculation against typhoid-paratyphoid fevers immediately, in order that it may be well under way by August 1st, the day of the opening of Camp.

Now comes that ever-fruitlest topic of discussion at every Summer resort. We admit that the topic is introduced only among those who know and understand each other. It is not one that may be taken up by strangers, like the weather, the roads, or the scenery. Perhaps its importance makes it more deeply significant. Yet it is interesting to many a person, and one concerning which we have read many learned articles. In brief it is, "Why can some people eat so much and never grow fat, and others grow fat when they maintain a conservative appetite that amounts almost to a diet?" Who is there who will offer an explanation? Of course medical science may be consulted through ponderous volumes on the free library shelves, but even so, the phraseology is often so technical that the layman finds himself over his head and getting nowhere. We admit that we have not the strength of character to shun a plate of food that is beautifully cooked and certain to contain many more calories than are needed for our sustenance. We dislike the thought of denying ourselves fattening morsels, and discourage those who tell us that we should "eat to live and not live to eat." We have heard many lament over the excessive amount of adipose tissue they were accumulating. We have also heard many lean and lank individuals remark, irritably, "I can always eat everything in sight, and never gain a pound." These are facts, as everyone will agree, but what is the answer? Who will come forward and tell us in language that is simple and easily comprehended by the mob mind why such a condition should exist? If such there be we should like to meet him. We cannot assure him an uncritical audience, however. What he may say will satisfy some, but not others. There, we believe, is one subject on which the people of our otherwise patriotic country can never be united. We sometimes doubt they want to be. If the times were settled beyond further controversy, where would we find an after-dinner topic to take its place? It is too absorbing and too interesting, and the porch occupants need it to keep conversation going.

We are reluctant to state our views on the matter of penalizing drunken automobile drivers, for so much has been said and written by others that we fear we may tire our readers. There is one point, however, which has been almost overlooked, or to which little attention has been given in public discussion. We refer to that pernicious practice of seeking the intervention of some man in public life, who is expected to save a thoroughly guilty offender from serving a jail sentence. Among Boston politicians it has become an accepted part of one's duties. For instance, a member of the Legislature, usually a Democrat, expects to go to the police court practically each morning, and try in every way possible to get one of his constituents out of the clutches of the law in one way or another. Here in Newton we know of a high official whose general policy has often caused him to ask mercy for some people who were not entitled to any consideration whatever. It is done largely to make votes, or secure one's political future. From the standpoint of a practical politician, it is without doubt "good business" and as long as certain voters believe that to be the obligation of the holder of an elective office, it will no doubt be continued. We deplore such conditions, and know that the citizens in general share our views. We think Newton people would be surprised if they knew what pressure is brought to bear on many a drunken driver from imprisonment. And we further believe they would be shocked if they were aware to what extremes the friends of a prisoner seem to find it necessary to go. The courts do well to resist the pressure. We do not understand the police are quite as firm, but have no personal knowledge. It is a miserable state of affairs due to political greed, disregard for the law of the commonwealth, and a misguided notion of friendship.

We tremble when we think what

Do You Realize What Your Rent Covers?

No one builds a house and rents it out of pure philanthropy. You wouldn't do it.

It is done to make money.

Here is the way it is figured.

The interest on the investment, taxes, insurance, depreciation, upkeep and a profit for a full year are added together and then divided by 12 months.

That gives the rate you pay per month.

If you own your home you would pay the interest and profit on the investment to yourself. Wouldn't you rather do that than put it into the pocket of someone else?

Think it over. Then see us for building plans and other details.

CREDIT BUREAU SERVICE

Arrangements have been completed to make available to subscribers the full service of the recently organized Newton Credit Bureau, beginning with next Monday, July 14. On and after that date the office of the bureau, at 277 Washington street, Newton, will be open continuously during business hours and in charge of a responsible person who can answer inquiries and render reports to subscribers. A telephone has been installed and the new number is Newton North 5206.

With the installation of the telephone and arrangements for rendering service, an effort will be made to speed up the return of rating cards from the various subscribers and to have all available information classified and listed as early as possible. The initial business hours will be from 9 to 5 o'clock, and until one o'clock on Saturdays. This schedule will perhaps be extended at some later date, if it develops that this action is necessary to insure maximum service.
Subscriptions to the bureau service are being received with gratifying regularity, and are coming in at the present time at the rate of about one new subscriber per day. In view of the fact that the bureau has already rendered more valuable service to various subscribers, much of the time of Manager F. A. Rogers has necessarily been given to other matters than the presentation of the bureau plan to prospective subscribers. There are yet a large number who are expected to be interested in the bureau service and these will be reached as rapidly as possible.

SUMMER'S TWILIGHT

The robins chirp in the gloaming, While in the trees, they are roaming To nests on high!

The daisies nod to the grasses, The clouds are low in gray masses In 'Twilight's sky!

The mother-bird nestles lower, The shadows dark, deepen more, Soft winds pass by!

The child is hushed in sweet slumbers, The stars appear now in numbers, Angels are nigh!

The earth in quiet seems nesting, "Be still" and feel while it's resting "Peace" from on high!

MARY E. HOWES, Newtonville, Mass.

THE COUNTRY WEEKLY PRESS

The city dailies often josh about the country press. But the small-town country weekly is and all-around success. It beats the daily paper for a sheet that's read clean through; and its patent includes function and are entertaining, too. There is less of bluff and bluster, less hysteria and pose. Less of ballyhoo and brainstorm, less divorce and human woes. And the sanest folks will tell you, having watched the passing show. There's a lot of frothy piffle that is not worth while to know.

Take the city Sunday supplement that is dumped upon the porch; it buries us in literature, and keeps us home from church. It corrupts our wives and children with its freakish, morbid show. For its jokes are often nightmares and its ideals often low. The city daily has a man who reads the country press. And the news he cribs and rewrites is what makes for his success. And as he clips and butchers it for all that he can use. He ridicules the makeup of the heads and local news.

But how welcome is the weekly along the R. F. D. When Grandma polishes her specs and takes it with her tea. And with what kindly comment she smiles and nods her head. As she clips for her scrap album the best things she has read. The poem by a neighbor, or the winners at the fair; Obituaries and weddings are among her treasures rare. And, unlike the city editor who yields for puns of all ages, boys, girls or adults. Endorsement from college professors and leading private schools. Open all summer, at 1374 Mass. Ave., Cambridge Savings Bank Building, Tel. Porter 2133.

The country sheet has been the work of man of great renown; The bulk of all our best-loved men came from the country town. For 'tis here you get the human touch that's always understood. And you'll find some worthwhile people in the small-town neighborhood. You'll find more Christian charity, and more good common sense; Here thrives originality without so much pretense. While the daily paper shouts it with its billboard type so tall. The small town ways of doing may be the wisest after all. —Roy Churchill Smith, in Inland Oil Index.
